

TURNING POINT IN GREAT BATTLE ON WEST FRONT AT HAND, WASHINGTON BELIEF

Germans Have Failed in Their Tremendous Efforts to Achieve Victory and Have Made Only Local Gains; Admittedly They Have the Advantage Thus Far, but Better Day is at Hand, Says War Department Statement; Decisive Success is Not in Sight.

SEVEN ATTACKS BY THE GERMANS FRUITLESS

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The turning point on the west front is being reached according to the war department review of the military situation for the week ending April 13, published today. The Germans have failed in their purpose to achieve victory in these fields the statement continues and will soon be forced to resume their old tactics.

"We must bear in mind," the review says, "that the enemy is waging a battle of annihilation to achieve victory. He is fighting today with the sole aim of annihilating the British army."

"While it must be admitted that German operations since the beginning of the present offensive have resulted in more than a mere ploughing up of parts of the allied trench system and the capture of local objectives along a wide front, nevertheless the aim of the German high command to obtain a strategic success by these assaults has not been attained."

"The turning point in the west is being reached. The Germans have scored a distinct advantage which it would be unwise to endeavor to belittle."

BRITISH REPULSE SEVEN THURSTERS.

LONDON, April 15.—Seven attacks by the Germans in the Merville sector of the northern battle front, have been repulsed by the British who inflicted heavy losses on the enemy, it is announced officially.

Southwest of Baillieu the Germans temporarily penetrated the British positions but were driven out by a counter attack. The British have lost Neve Eglise.

FRENCH DRIVE BRINGS PRISONERS.

PARIS, April 15.—On the front above Montdidier the French made a successful local attack last night, taking prisoners, the War Office announces.

BRITISH ARE DRIVEN FROM NEVE EGLISE.

LONDON, April 15.—Severe fighting continued all day yesterday around Neve Eglise. After beating off numerous attacks our troops were in the end compelled to withdraw a second time from the village.

"Strong attacks were made by the enemy yesterday afternoon at a number of other points on the battle front. Northwest of Merville fierce fighting took place as a result of which the attacking German infantry was driven back with great loss. The hostile infantry advancing along the northern bank of the Lys was caught by the fire of our artillery and was unable to develop its attack."

"Southwest of Baillieu parties of the enemy succeeded temporarily in penetrating our positions but were driven out by our counter attacks and our line was restored."

"Fighting took place early this morning south of the Somme in the neighborhood of Hangard. Our positions in this sector have been improved and a number of prisoners have been taken. Hostile artillery was active last night in the neighborhood of Bucquoy."

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Orders for greater efforts to find the missing naval collier Cyclops, overdue from South American waters for more than a month, went out today to American ships.

AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN PEACE LETTER RESULTS IN THE RESIGNATION OF CZERNIN

AMSTERDAM, April 15.—Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, according to a dispatch from Vienna has resigned. Emperor Charles accepted the resignation and entrusted Count Czernin with the conduct of foreign affairs until his successor is appointed.

An official statement received here today from Vienna asserts that the latest statement of the French Premier, M. Clemenceau, concerning the conversation between Austria and France regarding the possibility of opening peace negotiations do not alter the situation as regards the majority of Count Czernin's declarations. The Austrian foreign minister, the statement says, is unable to ascertain what was responsible for delivering to the French what is said to have been a forged letter, substituted for the letter which was to have been delivered. Neither Prince Sixtus, whose character is beyond suspicion, nor any one else is accused of falsification, continues the statement, which concludes: "The affair is herewith declared at an end."

The recent publication by the French government of the full peace appeal sent out by Emperor Charles of Austro-Hungary in March, 1917, and the efforts of the emperor and foreign office to explain this letter to the satisfaction of Germany and the German emperor were the most potent influence in bringing about the resignation of Count Czernin.

How You Can Save Time for Bond Teams and Boost the Sales

In previous canvasses of the city, members of the various teams have been obliged to waste considerable time because the heads of the households had not previously decided what they would do in the matter of subscriptions. This has necessitated a second call, and sometimes a third, greatly delaying the work of completing a canvass of the different districts.

You can be of great assistance to the team workers if you will ask the Liberty Bond subscription over with your wife this evening and determine the amount of your subscription. When the solicitors call tomorrow or some later day the folks at home will know just what to do. This will save time for both yourself and the teams and will help wonderfully to boost the sales.

LOYALTY LEAGUE MAY LOOK AFTER OPPONENTS TO ENLISTMENT IN CO. G

Such Activity is Nothing Less Than a Form of Pro-Germanism at This Time; a Few Recruits Needed.

The Loyalty League has an opportunity to do some patriotic service in assisting in the recruitment of the Connellsville platoon of Company G, Third Pennsylvania Militia Reserve, to the strength necessary for its muster into the service. A few men are yet needed to complete the roster. It is reported that certain individuals in the city have made very disparaging remarks about service with this organization which, in the present emergency and state of the public mind, amounts to nothing less than a form of pro-Germanism.

While this organization is not intended for federal service its existence is essential to the maintenance of peace and good order in the commonwealth of Pennsylvania and membership in it is as much a test of loyalty as other forms of service. Those who are advising young men against enlisting in it are very likely to receive attention from the Loyalty League, if their activities are couched. Tuesday and Friday night have been fixed for drill by Captain Cox. Drafts are urged to report at these drills.

HIBERNIANS BUY BONDS

County President Given Authority to Decide Amount.

Poregoing the national convention in order that the order's purchase of Liberty Bonds would be greater, is the novel plan of the national lodge of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The convention of the county branch was held Sunday at Dunbar when it was announced that the national convention to be held at San Francisco had been cancelled. The expenses of the convention, about $150,000, will be invested in Liberty Bonds.

John Ewin, of Connellsville, treasurer of the Fayette county order, was given blanket authority to purchase as many Liberty Bonds as the treasury of the organization could stand. A. J. King, president of the order, made a patriotic address to the delegates in which he urged every citizen in Fayette county to invest in the Unit in Liberty Bonds.

Ten Arrests Made.

Five prisoners were given hearings before Mayor John Duggan this morning, three being discharged and two others paying their fines. Forfeits left by other prisoners amounted to $25.

MAYOR DUGGAN ASKS ALL CITIZENS TO TAKE PART IN LIBERTY LOAN PARADE

Mayor Duggan issued the following proclamation this morning relating to the great Liberty Loan parade which will be held on Thursday afternoon: "A monster Liberty Loan parade will take place Thursday, April 18, at 2:30 P. M., forming at Veech street, West Side. A National band of 75 pieces will arrive to lead the parade. They will be met by George S. Connell and his committee, and will be conducted through the principal streets of our city to the Liberty steps, where an address will be made by James Francis Burke, a speaker of national reputation, upon the issues of the Liberty Loan that is being waged by our government."

"We ask that all the business and industrial places of our city close promptly at 2:30 P. M. and every citizen to join in this parade. I would call your attention to the fact that in past parades, employees of our different banks and places of industry have failed to turn out as they should on these occasions. I hope at this time that the spirit of patriotism that should exist in the minds and hearts of the people will be fully demonstrated by the part that you take in this parade on next Thursday."

"The parade is in charge of J. L. Evans, assisted by J. E. Angle, who will impart to you any information regarding to the formation of this parade. They wish to impress upon the public that no automobiles or other vehicles will be allowed to participate as this will be a parade of marchers through our city."

LIBERTY LOAN CAMPAIGN IN CONNELLVILLE UNDER WAY; BUSY IN RURAL DISTRICTS

50,000 MORE MEN ARE ADDED TO NEXT DRAFT TO BE CALLED IN MAY

Will Be Trained With the Regulars For Early Service Abroad; Pennsylvania to Furnish 3,776.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Another draft call, for 13,843 registrants, has been sent to governors of states. Mobilization of the men is ordered for May 1 and 10. The War Department announced last night, and they will be sent to 21 forts and recruiting barracks, probably for training with Regular Army units there.

This call increases to more than 300,000 the number of select men ordered to camp since late in March. This is far in excess of the monthly plan to call 80,000 men this year over a nine-month period. Patriotic calls at the same rate would complete the program before midsummer.

Under President Wilson's determination to hasten the dispatch of American troops to France to reinforce the British and French armies bearing the brunt of the great German drives in Flanders and Picardy, the whole program of the army is speeding up. Only a week ago General Crowder ordered mobilization of 150,000 select men for April 26, and their movement to the National Army cantonments during the five days following.

Although every state and the District of Columbia are called upon to furnish men under General Crowder's latest order, nearly half of the 49,533 men will come from seven states. Illinois will supply by far the largest number, its quota being 8,047. Pennsylvania is next with 3,776, New York third with 3,542.

OFFMAN WANTS THE COURIER AT CAMP.

In a letter received from Andrew Oppman, who recently went into training at Camp Lee, Va., he says that the army life is the only kind. "After the first day in drill," he writes, "I felt like a man 60 years old, but am feeling fine now. Talk about eating. They give you all you want and more if you wish it."

"There is one thing we must have in camp," Oppman writes, "and that is The Courier. Start it at once!" At present he is under quarantine, but doesn't think it will last long.

Ford Roadster Stolen.

Returns from the committees which went into the outlying districts yesterday to talk on the Liberty Loan, what it was and its purpose, report very enthusiastic sessions. The rural residents were organized for a canvass of their districts and the quotas for each section given out. Meetings were held at over a dozen school houses and churches.

In the mountain district, E. T. Norton, Robert Norris, F. W. Wright, E. E. Younk, A. C. Stickle, J. E. Angle and J. L. Evans, held several meetings, culminating in one big gathering at the church at Mill Run in the evening which about 200 persons attended. F. E. Younk made the principal address.

Great enthusiasm was displayed by everyone and when it was announced that the quota for that section had been fixed at $50,000 cheers were given. A chairman and secretary were (Continued on Page Two.)

elected and committees to conduct a canvass were appointed. It is certain good results will come from the mountain district.

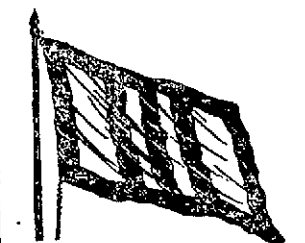

In addition to the Mill Run meeting at which all the local men were present, two meetings were held at Normalville in the morning by J. L. Evans and E. T. Norton and one at the Zion church. Robert Norris, F. E. Younk and J. E. Angle spoke at two meetings at Indian Head while F. E. Wright and A. C. Stickle explained the loan to two gatherings at Mill Run.

J. L. Slader, M. Deroczin and Fred Skisive, who addressed meetings of the Slavish people of the coke region, held in the Slavish hall, West Side, and Fuesher's hall at Leisnering, were received with every courtesy and great enthusiasm. Subscriptions to the amount of $2,200 were secured from five of the Slavish organizations, and the announcement made that the members will come into the city during the week to make individual subscription.

At one of the meetings, a robust, muscular, fine looking Slav made an address that called forth most vigorous applause.

"When I came to this country I was barefooted, just like many other of my countrymen who came with me," said he, directing his remarks to the visiting committee. "We have found good homes in America and I want you to know, and to tell your gov-ment, that the Slavish people will do any and everything to help America. We know what things were like in the country we left and we know how different they are here. There is nothing we won't do to keep our new home."

A preliminary subscription of $7,500 was secured at Ohioville as a result of the meeting which was held in the Baptist church yesterday afternoon. Delia B. Smith, Benton Boyd and George S. Connell represented the Conneltsville district Liberty Loan committee. The original subscription amounted to $8,950. It was quickly increased to $7,000, and then again to $7,500.

The apportionment for Ohioville borough and Stewart township is $35,490, and the executive committee which was organized at the meeting expressed confidence of an over-subscription. M. H. Hostetler was appointed chairman of the meeting and was subsequently elected permanent chairman of the Liberty Loan committee, with F. E. Bordette as secretary. Mitchell, John Harbaugh, R. V. Rittenour and W. R. Jones.

A large number of women met Saturday afternoon at the women's Liberty Loan headquarters in room No. 413 Title & Trust building, and discussed plans for the Liberty Loan drive. Mrs. W. O. Schooner presided. In the absence of Mrs. S. R. Goldsmith, who was summoned to New York by illness of her sister, Mrs. Carl S. Horner, Mrs. J. Raymond Meztret will have charge of the women's campaign. The meeting was an enthusiastic one and every woman present displayed great interest in the campaign. The women will not conduct a house to house campaign, but will cooperate with the men. Every bond secured by the men during the drive will go through the women's Liberty Loan headquarters. There they will be taken care of and turned into whatever bank is designated on the application.

Liberty Bond literature was passed among the women, who will make a special effort to sell as many bonds as possible. Housewives are urged to interest their maids in Liberty Bonds. The easy terms of payment made by the different banks makes it possible for virtually everyone to buy a bond.

The Women's Liberty Loan headquarters during the campaign will be open every afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock and in the evening from 7 to 8 o'clock. Mrs. John P. Torrence is in charge this afternoon. Mrs. R. S. McKee will preside this evening.

Paint to Indicate Heat in Bearings.
A patent that is a bright red in color at ordinary temperatures turns black when the temperature rises to 120 degrees Fahrenheit or thereabouts, and then resumes its red color when cool again has been recently introduced. This paint is especially suitable for use on bearings, as it shows that a bearing is commencing to heat before there is danger of damage resulting. The color changes are said to be unmistakable, the paint is unaffected by lubricating oils and is also free from alkalies or acids.—Popular Mechanics.

WOULD SERVE ITS PURPOSE
Thoughtful Young Wife Had Reason for Economy in Buying Hubby's Birthday Present.

An elderly millionaire, who had married a beautiful young woman, was presented on his birthday with a very handsome watch chain by her. He was delighted with the gift and began upon his charming young wife. "It is perfect," he agreed, "so massive, yet in excellent taste."

"I felt sure you would like it," she replied, "and it was so inexpensive, too. I only paid twelve dollars for it."

"Only twelve dollars!" replied the millionaire in surprise. "Twelve dollars for this solid gold chain?" "Oh, of course, it isn't solid gold, dear," she replied, "you could never get solid gold for that price. It is solid silver."

The husband stroked his chin reflectively as he inquired: "Why this sudden avowal of economy? Don't you think I can afford a solid gold chain?"

"To be sure you can," she assented, "but this one is guaranteed for ten years, and—"

"Well?" impatiently interrupted the millionaire.

"Well, dear," she continued, with a slight heightening of color, "as that is as long as you are likely to live, I thought it would be foolish extravagance to pay more."

Cows as a Money Standard.
The Cheshvures, a race of 7,000 people, in Tiflis, southern Russia, know nothing of the use of money as a medium of exchange. The unit of value among these primitive people is the cow. A horse is valued at three cows and a stallion at six. If a Cheshvure becomes enraged and cracks his neighbor's skull, he is obliged to pay 13 cows. If he breaks a bone in his neighbor's arm or leg, five cows will rehabilitate him in the eyes of society, while a wound in the forehead calls for three cows.

It will be thus seen that a Cheshvure gentleman with plenty of cows can have all the fun he wants in fighting.

Byrne was the last speaker on the program.

Sherrick, Mrs. Anna Lowe and W. C. Myers of Scottdale, and Mrs. Wright of Alverton. President John C. Shiley conducted open parliament, using as his subject "The Home Department." This was followed with a business session when the following officers were elected: President, J. Lyman Loucks; vice president, A. L. Rosensteel; secretary, Prof. Limber; treasurer, F. C. Presentation was made of the Greensburg Daily Record subscriptions as follows: Reformed Sunday school of Scottdale which had 10 per cent of its enrollment present, and to the Lutheran and Reformed Union Sunday school of Zion which had 11 per cent of their enrollment present. TO ALL STOMACH SUFFERERS

I use this means to reach all those who have been suffering with stomach trouble; I have been cured and I want to give you the benefit of my experience; I suffered with stomach troubles for seven years; during that time I doctored with some of the best stomach specialists, tried Christian Science, physical culture, a hundred odd family remedies, all the patent medicines I saw advertised to cure indigestion, and took everything anybody would suggest, but with no relief. At last I found a cure; the first dose gave me instant relief; I could hardly believe it would continue to give me relief, but it has now been two years since I have been cured of stomach trouble; all my friends who have used the medicine have been cured; if you have had my experience or know of any of your friends who are suffering, write me. Inclosing stamped envelope and I will tell you how to get this medicine; this is no patent medicine advertisement, but is the only way I can reach those who want to be relieved of the terrible stomach misery. The Voice of Lincoln

"We accepted this war for a worthy object, and the war will end when that object is attained. Under God, I hope it will not end until that time."

Fifty-four years ago when many people were asking, as some are asking to-day, what was the use of the war, Abraham Lincoln replied in the above stirring words.

The voice of Lincoln can be heard in America today. His appeal is for us to keep up the struggle until the object of the war is obtained and the world is made safe for democracy.

Every person in this country has a distinct share to do and YOUR share is to buy LIBERTY BONDS to provide the United States Government with the necessary money for carrying on the war to a successful end.

The more Bonds you buy, the quicker will the war end and the more American soldiers will return home safe and sound.

These American soldiers are risking their lives, but the buyer of LIBERTY BONDS does not even risk his money. When you buy a LIBERTY BOND, in addition to the satisfaction of performing your patriotic duty, you get the best investment in the world—a United States Government Bond, guaranteed by the richest nation in the world.

SHOULD HAVE RECOGNITION.

In its attitude on all that relates to the war the Benevolent Order of Elks, as a group of loyal citizens, has manifested the spirit of patriotism in a no less characteristic way than it has displayed its benevolence as a fraternal organization, both in peace and in war.

In Connelville this organization was the first to arrange for a public flag raising following the declaration of war with Germany. It gave initial impetus to the movement to raise the Company D and Hospital Corps Fund, which insured the success of this first war-time fund in Connelville. The members of this fraternity have taken active part in the Liberty Loan, Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and K. of C. drives, and both as an organization and as individual citizens have contributed liberally to all war-time activities.

Realizing the increasing demands that the progress of the war is making upon the Red Cross, the Elks have felt it an obligation, no less than a privilege, to relinquish all claim upon the net proceeds of the forthcoming minstrel show and will turn the whole thereof over to that great organization which is doing so much to prevent and relieve suffering or hardship among our soldiers.

This highly creditable and praiseworthy action is entirely in accord with that willingness to sacrifice which is coming to have a larger part in the lives of all loyal citizens. It deserves to have recognition, not alone because of the temper and spirit which has prompted it, but as an encouragement to both individuals and organizations to emulate this magnanimous example.

ARE YOU READY FOR THE TEST?

"The duty of loyalty is the most sacred. Every one not giving whole-hearted support to his government and to the boys who have sent to France should be ashamed."

This was but one of the many forceful expressions used by Lieutenant Ferford in bringing home to the people of Connelville a realization of the task to which we are submitted by America's entrance into the war. No time is more fitting than the present for every American citizen to give instant and most earnest heed to the admonition of one who, having lived through part of the awful struggle, has come to America to tell us less about the part of his own country and England have taken in the war, than to outline what there is for us to do.

The world, the Allies, even Germany, admit that the present is the most critical period of the war. Germany knows full well that eventual defeat is inevitable and certain unless she can win a victory while Russia is prostrate and America has not arrived on the front in full force. The growing loss of Germany's man-power and the steady decline of the economic resources of the empire, together with the increasing difficulties of carrying on the war, have rendered her desperate. In the great battle now going on she is taking her last chance to achieve a victory. The Allies realize the seriousness of the situation and they are confronting their enemy with a determination to win at all hazards. It is a grapple to the death.

Even if the Allies, and the comparatively small force of Americans now on the field, cannot withstand the terrific onslaughts against them, and the Germans break through, or divide the French and English armies, or capture the channel ports or Paris, the Hun will not win, but they can indefinitely prolong the war. To meet the intensely critical situation both France and Great Britain are making praiseworthy efforts. They are performing deeds of supermen in holding their lines intact, but they must have help, help that only America can give and given without stint.

In giving that help you and every other American citizen will have his or her loyalty tested. This help can be given in many forms but in none that will be more immediately effective or afford better proof that you esteem loyalty to be your sacred duty than to have a part in the boosting of the Third Liberty Loan. Under the many plans provided for their purchase and the multiplicity of agencies through which subscriptions can be made, there is absolutely no excuse for any wage-earner, business or professional man or capitalist refusing to become a buyer.

In the present crisis, and the temper of the people who are proving their patriotism in the things they do and in the sacrifices they are making, the sincerity of a man or woman's loyalty is going to be measured by the attitude they assume, not only on the bond proposition, but by their attitude upon everything that directly or indirectly is intended to help both America and her war-worn Allies, and to hold up the hands of the boys who, sooner or later, must bear the brunt of a prolonged fight with a madly desperate foe.

Are you ready for the test? If so, prove it to the men who will this week visit you to secure your bond subscription.

From a careful perusal of the Elks' Booster Section of The Courier today you would never suspect that the members of its editorial and business force were novices at the game.

"They all stand firm," is the heartening word from this western front.

This is the very best kind of weather for planting your dollars in Liberty Bonds. They will be sure to grow and mature a fine crop.

Another addition to the draft call only $6,000, but they will help to swell the hour, the mobilization of which is causing Brutal Bill many sleepless nights.

The Sammys are shaking the Kaiser's double troops with shaking results to the would-be shockers.

The hearts of the Elks having always been in the right place, and their patriotism and loyalty true blue, it was the most natural thing in the world for them to choose the Red Cross as the beneficiary of their minstrel show.

Clean up, speed up, speed up.

Talk the Liberty Bond subscription over with your wife, deciding how many you will take, so that the collectors won't have to waste time by making a second trip to find out what you are going to do.

Come across on the Liberty Bonds and stop the iron cross industry in Germany.

Back Up the Boys

By Carl W. Ackerman, famous war correspondent, who resided in Germany several years.

As far as I have been able to observe in Spain, France and Switzerland the outcome of the great war depends upon the United States. The military situation today is critical. All of Europe is awaiting a German offensive which will continue several weeks and perhaps months. This, I believe, will be the last great attack which Germany will be able to make against our European allies. We may and we may not have to take part in these operations, but when this offensive ends, the United States will be called upon to deal the last blow. The success of our operations depends not only upon our splendid army, but more upon the backing this army receives at home. The morale of our troops depends upon the determination and earnestness of the American people. And this determination must be expressed in some definite manner. Spain, France and Switzerland are watching the United States to see what the people do, because it is realized in Europe that the American people themselves determine what their government and army shall do.

The two Liberty Loans in the United States have been very successful, but to my mind Liberty Loans are not to be measured by the amount subscribed, alone. The essential thing is that millions of Americans show that they are back of the Army by subscribing. I think that more than ten million Americans should subscribe to the third loan, and if they do the moral effect in Europe and in our Expeditionary Forces will be tremendous.

And, last but not least, the enemy is watching that loan as carefully as it is watching our military preparations, because the enemy knows that the success of our fighting will depend upon the determination of the men and women "back home."

DOWN TO THE DENTISTS.

I've been down to the dentist's and sat in his chair, with the shiny stand, An' the little bowl where he let me spit. Cause there's water running around in it, An' the funny tools in a big glass case Which the dentist uses inside your face. An' my Ma said as she took me there, "Now don't you cry in the dentist's chair!"

"Now open your mouth, young man," says he, "Cause there's something there that I want to see." An' he looked for awhile—An' said: "Oh my I see you've been eatin' apple pie." An' I said: "That's a big mistake. If there's something there it's chocolate cake. Cause Ma ain't made us an apple pie. Since the white floor got hard to buy."

An' the dentist laughed, an' grabbed a thing Which buzzed like a bee, an' had a sting. Cause the minute it touched my tooth I jumped. An' my both eyes blinked an' my throat got lumped; I couldn't swallow, an' Ma said, "there it'll soon be fixed, an' don't you care." An' the doctor says: "Did I hurt you, kid?" An' he laughed when I said: "You bet you did!"

Now the tooth's all fixed an' it doesn't ache. I can use both sides on my chocolate cake. Which I couldn't do till I went down there. An' sat awhile in that dentist's chair. An' at supper Ma told Pa that I was a big brave boy, an' I didn't care. An' my Pa said, "good!" I was glad I didn't yell at the hurt I had.

It's the easiest and simplest way to get on the home firing line—to strike a body blow at the Kaiser.

Under the LIBERTY LOAN BOND CLUB plan anybody can buy a $50 bond by paying a dollar down and a dollar a week until the bond is paid for.

$100, $200, $300, $500 worth of bonds may be paid for in similar proportionate installments.

These bonds are the safest investment in the world today. All the resources of the U. S. Government are back of them.

Don't let anything keep you away from this double opportunity.

An opportunity for safe and profitable investment.

An opportunity to help win the war.

THEY OFFER THEIR LIVES FOR YOU

Your sons and your neighbors' sons, perhaps, are now fighting in France or will be "over there" very soon.

They offer their lives for us.

Can we do less than offer our money to supply them with food, guns and ammunition?

No; it is our plain duty to buy as many Liberty Bonds as we possibly can. It is the least that we can do for the brave boys at the front.

And there is really no sacrifice connected with it, for every bond is as good as gold—better than gold—for the bonds pay 4 1-4 per cent interest.

TUBERCULAR DISCARDS FROM THE ARMY WILL BE GIVEN PROPER ATTENTION

National Anti-Tubercular Association and Red Cross Will Follow Up Cases of Men Rejected.

Plans have been completed for giving proper care to members or prospective members of the United States Army who are found to be tuberculous. The surgeon general's office has delegated the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis to receive the lists of names of all men thus rejected either by draft boards or after the men have reached training quarters and before they have completed their probationary period and become full-fledged soldiers or sailors.

These names will be forwarded from the association's headquarters here to the state anti-tuberculosis and public health agencies and Red Cross offices nearest the men's homes. The local agencies will follow up all such cases and see that they get the care which will not only effect a cure of the men themselves whenever possible, but will protect their families and neighbors from infection.

The association has also compiled from the records of the tuberculosis sanatoria of the country a list of names of all recent male inmates of draft age. This data is forwarded to the training camps and is used in weeding out those with a history of the disease.

In the meantime the local cooperating agencies, at the request of the National Association, are assisting the draft boards in their sections in weeding out suspected tuberculosis cases.

For the men who do not develop the disease in recognizable form until after they have passed their probationary period the government is providing sanatorium care in government hospitals in various parts of the country. For those who are rejected by exemption boards and at camps as "not in line of duty," the association is agitating an increase in civilian hospital facilities of at least 50,000 beds.

How important and extensive follow-up work is this may be seen from the fact that already from 1 to 3 per cent of the men who reach the training camps, having passed their original examination, are later rejected on account of tuberculosis.

THIRD LIBERTY LOAN

The Third Liberty Loan Campaign is now open. The allotment for Fayette County is approximately $3,700,000. On April 12th Lieutenant Perigord of France will speak at the West End Theatre. He is loaned by the French Government to the Liberty Loan Committee; he has been decorated six times for bravery in action, and has been wounded four times. He has seen much active service. On the 18th there will be a public meeting, likely on the Court House lawn; Sousa's wonderful band of New York will be in attendance; James Francis Burke of Pittsburgh will be among the speakers. Every man, woman and child in Fayette County should buy a Liberty Bond. We believe the Fayette County subscriptions will run over five million dollars.

The Union Supply Company are offering during this entire week some very dainty styles in women's and misses' shirt waists and skirts. The variety is large, the styles are very unique, and the prices reasonable. It is the second spring shipment and they are the choicest styles we will have during this season. WILL LECTURE HERE

American, Who Saw Service in French Army, Will Be at High School.

George H. Roeder, an American student who has been in active service in France since the beginning of the war, will give a lecture in the high school auditorium on Friday, April 19, under the auspices of the Conneltsville chapter of the Red Cross. He will demonstrate the use of various instruments of war which he carries with him.

Roeder was among those spirited Americans who organized the American Ambulance in France. With Section Number 2 he saw arduous service along the entire Western front from Alsace to Dunkirk. Roeder was attached to the French armies in command of his section and participated in some of the most terrific fighting of the war up to the present, including the battle of the Marne, Point a Mousson, Verdun, Vaux, Douaumont, etc. His description of experiences under all sorts of shell-fire and gas attacks is thrilling. For conspicuous bravery he was one of the first few Americans to receive the French War Cross.

ALLIES DEMAND MORE CEREALS

American Meat Restrictions Relaxed to Effect Greater Wheat Savings.

ARGENTINE ARRIVALS SHORT.

Meat Supply Here Considerably Enlarged — Food Administration, However, Warns Against Waste.

The allies have made further and increased demands for breadstuffs, these enlarged demands being caused to some degree by shortage in arrivals from the Argentine. It is, therefore, necessary for the U. S. Food Administration to urge a still further reduction in the consumption of bread and breadstuffs generally if we are to meet our export necessities. The Food Administration has issued a statement explaining the situation in detail, particularly the reasons which lead it, for the purpose of centering effort for the time being upon the cereal situation to relax temporarily the restrictions on meat consumption.

Experience shows, this statement says, that the consumption of breadstuffs is intimately associated with the consumption of meat. For various reasons our supplies of meat for the next two or three months are considerably enlarged, and we can supply the allies with all of the meat products which transportation facilities render possible and at the same time somewhat increase our own consumption. In these circumstances the Food Administration considers it wise to relax the voluntary restrictions on meat consumption to some extent with a view to further decreasing bread consumption.

Conservation of food must be adjusted to meet necessities from time to time, for neither production, nor allied demands are constant factors, nor can any of these factors be anticipated for long periods in advance in the disturbed conditions in which we at present live. While the world situation is not one that warrants any relaxation in the efforts to eliminate waste or to relax economy in food, the Administration desires to secure better adjustment in food balances.

So long as the present conditions continue the only special restrictions we ask are the needless and pointless Tuesday.

The needless meat and porkless Saturday are no longer asked.

The farmers of the United States are responding to the national call to increase hog production. Their increase, to all appearances, is being attained more rapidly. Of more immediate importance, however, are several complex factors which have effected an immediate increase in meat supplies.

The transportation shortage before the government took over the railroads, the bad weather in January and early in February, the large percentage of immature corn in the last harvest and the necessity of feeding this corn as rapidly as possible to save it from decay, have not only resulted in backing up the animals—particularly hogs—on the farms for a longer period of feeding, but have resulted in a great increase in their average weight and will result, with improved transportation conditions, which already appear, in larger than normal arrivals at market for the next two or three months. The weight of hogs coming to the market for the past two weeks indicates an increase in weight of from an average of 203 pounds last year to the almost unprecedented average of 232 pounds, or a net increase in their meat value of over 15 per cent. This is a distinct addition to the nation's meat supply. It therefore now seems certain that we have such enlarged supplies for at least some months to come, that we can not only increase our exports to the allies to the full extent of their transportation facilities, but at the same time can properly increase our domestic consumption.

The response of the public to our requests for reduced consumption of meat during the past few months has been most gratifying, and this service alone has enabled the government during this period to provide such supplies as transportation to the allies permitted.

The Administration also suggests that in those parts of the country where the old fashioned home preservation of pork is still the custom, this practice should be extended at the present time, as it will relieve the burden upon transportation to and from the packing houses and is economically sound as saving the cost of packing operations and at the same time will provide home supplies of pork to last over the months of decreased supplies.

Great Wheat Stocks Isolated.

It's the shortage in ships that is putting the Allies and the United States on wheat rations. Great stocks of wheat are isolated in India, and Australia. At great sacrifice in ship space and use the Allies are forced to secure some wheat from Argentina.

On January 1, Australia had stored 100,000,000 bushels of wheat that was ready for export—but there were no ships. Then came the new crop with an exportable surplus of 80,000,000 bushels. Now Australia has approximately 180,000,000 bushels waiting for ships.

India, at the same time, had 70,000,000 bushels of wheat stored for export. During April 50,000,000 bushels more out of the new crop will be added to the pile.

Argentina closed the last shipping season with 11,000,000 bushels of wheat left in the stock available for export. The new crop will add 125,000,000 to the left over.

It is not a problem that the wheat does not exist in the world—it is entirely a problem of shipping, which has thrown on America the obligation of dividing our stock with the Allies.

The Food Administration desires to repeat that it does not want to give the impression that these are times when simplicity and moderation of living are not critically necessary, but that its sole desire is to secure an adjustment between our different food supplies and meet changing conditions from time to time and to keep the public fully and frankly advised of its position with the full confidence and reliance that whenever it becomes necessary renewed appeals for saving will meet the same loyal response as in the past.

ALLIED FOOD SHIPMENTS REACH LARGE TOTAL.

A general idea of the quantity of food sent to European allies by the United States from July 1, 1914, to January 1, 1918, is given by figures just announced by the U. S. Food Administration. In that period the United States has furnished complete year's rations for 57,100,000 people. In addition there was enough extra protein to supply this portion of the diet for 22,194,570 additional men.

The total export of wheat and wheat flour to the three principal allies is equivalent to about 354,000,000 bushels. Pork exports for the 3 1/2 years amounted to almost 2,000,000,000 pounds. Exports of fresh beef totaled 443,494,400 pounds. The amount of food exported to Russia is negligible compared with that sent to the western allies.

China Is Now Awake.

A water plant that has been feared as a pest is to be turned into a valuable commercial product of Indo-China, if anything comes of the suggestions to the Saigon Chamber of Commerce by M. Perrot, the French investigator. The plant, Echinococcus crassipes—popularly known as Luc Blos—invaded Cambodia ten years ago from Java or the Philippines, and has grown so rapidly as to fill ponds and lakes in a short time. A single stalk is reported to have spread over a water surface of 700 square yards in a few months. It has caused no little alarm as a menace to navigation, and a considerable sum seems to have been already expended in attempts to destroy it. Its strong fiber, however, has been found by M. Perrot to be useful for textile purposes. From 100 pounds of green stalks he obtained nine pounds of fiber, and a fifth-inch yarn or cord from this supported a weight of 100 pounds. The cord can be woven into matting or canvas. This can be dyed any color, and is suitable as a substitute for woven cane in furniture, but is expected to be especially valuable for rice sacks. Such sacks, equal to jute, can be made lighter than jute by treating with chrome alum.

ONLY AMERICA CAN HELP.

"On your side are boundless supplies of men, food, and material; on this side a boundless demand for their help."
"Our men are war-weary and their nerves have been strained by more than three years of hard, relentless toil."
"Our position is critical, particularly until the next harvest, but the United States can save us."
"You Americans have the men, the skill, and the material to save the allied cause."

GROCERS HELP IN 50-50 PLAN

SIGN PLEDGE TO CARRY OUT FOOD ADMINISTRATION PROGRAM.

POST CARDS IN STORES.

Explain New Wheat Ruling to Thousands of Customers—Insures Greater Food Saving.

Grocers of the nation have accepted enthusiastically the 50-50 basis for the purchase of wheat flour and are doing their utmost to explain the new regulation to the housewife. This ruling by the U. S. Food Administration requires each purchaser of wheat flour to buy one pound of cereal substitute, one kind or assorted, for every pound of wheat flour. It was necessary to restrict the use of wheat flour in order that the allies and our fighting forces abroad might be assured of an adequate supply of wheat to meet their vital needs. This supply must come from our savings because we have already sent our normal surplus.

Wheat saving pledge cards were forwarded by the Food Administration to all retail food merchants, and these are being signed and posted in stores throughout the country. This card states, "We pledge ourselves loyally to carry out the Food Administration program. In accordance with this order we will not sell any wheat flour except where the purchaser buys an equal weight of one or more of the following, a greater use of which in the home will save wheat:

"Cornmeal, corn flour, edible corn starch, hominy, corn grits, barley flour, potato flour, sweet potato flour, soy bean flour, fofetina flour and meal, rice, rice flour, oatmeal, rolled oats and buckwheat flour."

Some confusion has resulted on the part of the consumer in construing this "50-50" ruling to mean that an equal amount in value of substitutes must be purchased with wheat flour. This is a mistaken idea. The ruling states that the consumer in purchasing flour shall "buy at the same time an equal weight of other cereals."

One exception to this ruling is concerning Graham flour and whole wheat flour, which may be sold at the rate of three pounds to five pounds of wheat flour. This provision is made because approximately 25 per cent. more of the wheat berry is used in the manufacture of these flours than standard wheat flour.

Another exception is that concerning mixed flours containing less than 50 per cent. of wheat flour, which may be sold without substitutes. Retailers, however, are forbidden to sell mixed flours containing more than 50 per cent. of wheat flour to any person unless the amount of wheat flour substitutes sold is sufficient to make the total amount of substitutes, including those mixed in flours, equal to the total amount in wheat flour in the mixed flour. For instance, if any mixed flour is purchased containing 60 per cent. wheat flour and 40 per cent. substitutes it is necessary that an additional 20 per cent. of substitutes be purchased. This brings it to the basis of one pound of substitutes for each pound of wheat flour.

A special exemption may be granted upon application in the case of specially prepared infants' and invalids' food containing flour where the necessity is shown.

Some misunderstanding seems to exist on the part of consumers in assuming that with the purchase of wheat flour one must confine the additional 50 per cent. purchase to one of the substitutes. This is not the case. One may select from the entire range of substitutes a sufficient amount of each to bring the total weight of all substitutes equal to the weight of the wheat flour purchased. For instance, if a purchase of 24 pounds of wheat flour is made a range of substitutes may be selected as follows:

Cornmeal, 3 pounds; corn grits, 4 pounds; rice, 4 pounds; buckwheat, 2 pounds; corn starch, 1 pound; hominy, 2 pounds; rolled oats, 3 pounds.

These substitutes may be used in the following manner:

Cornmeal, 8 Pounds.—Corn bread, no flour; corn muffins or spoon bread; one-fourth flour or one-third rice or one-third hominy; 20 per cent. substitutes in whole bread.

Corn Starch, 1 Pound.—Thickening gravy, making custard, one-third substitute in cake.

Corn Grits, 4 Pounds.—Fried like mush, used with meat in making corn bread.

Rolls Oats, 3 Pounds.—One-fourth to one-third substitutes in bread, one-half substitute in muffins; breakfast porridge, use freely; oatmeal cookies, oatmeal soup.

OLD-TIME BALL PLAYERS FAST FADING FROM GAME.

Ball players who only a few years ago were starting every day on the diamonds in the big leagues are gradually fading away. Tom Leach was recently released by a minor league club and Harry Davis retired. And now "Wildfire" Schulte has been released by the Phillies.

Frank Schulte was a member of the old Cub machine when Frank Chance was its leader. For three years Schulte, who batted left-handed, was noted as the champion right-field fence buster of the league.

"Wildfire" with Stagle and Sheppard, formed the Cub's outfield with which Frank Chance won a pennant. Later, when Stagle began to slip back, Artie Hoffman took his place and Schulte continued his heavy hitting and more pennants were won.

Honday, 2 Pounds.—Baked for dinner, baked for dinner, with cheese sauce.

Rice, 4 Pounds.—One-fourth substitute in wheat bread, one-third substitute in corn bread, boiled for dinner (a bread cut), as a breakfast food, to thicken soups, rice pudding instead of cake or pie, rice batter cakes.

Several grocers have stated that their customers who strictly observe the 12 wheats meal each week find it necessary to buy substitutes in addition to those ordered under the 50-50 plan.

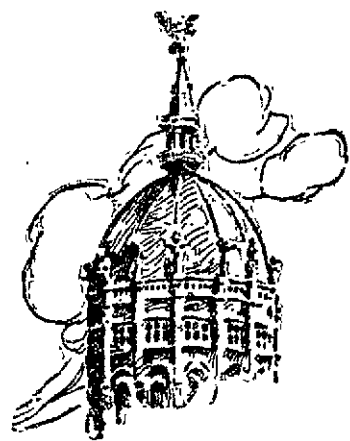

To Shorten Coat Tails.

An order has been issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad company directing passenger conductors to discard the Prince Albert style of uniform coat. Coats now in use may be worn until new ones are needed, which are to be of the sack style.

HISTORIC FLAG INCIDENTS

BATTLE FLAG DAY

SOME thirty-five years ago the gold-domed marble State Capitol at Hartford, Conn., illustrated above, which stands so imposingly upon an eminence in Bunsell Park in that city, was completed.

A day was set aside for transferring the tattered, war-scarred battle flags from the state arsenal to the new Capitol, where they now repose in state, revered and honored by hundreds of visitors who view them daily. The event of their transference went forward with great military pomp and honor. And the day was called.

BATTLE FLAG DAY

Each tattered banner was carried in the procession at the head of the living remnant of the original regiment that bore it to the front through the bitterly fought battles of the Civil War. And the entire city was one wind-blown, fluttering mass of the Red and White and Blue. It was a day of wild enthusiasm. Patriotism ran riot. The sight of these battle-scarred banners made men to cheer and throw hats into the air; women screamed and old veterans' cheeks ran wet with tears in the ecstasy of their patriotism.

And who shall say that American patriotism is dead? OCCASION only is required to make it burst forth a strong, healthy expression of sympathy with the honored principles in which this Republic stands founded.

There are many occasions that should be Flag Days with every true American citizen. Every National, State and Civic Holiday is a day upon which to show your patriotism and SHOW THE FLAG. It will keep alive the reverence for the Stars and Banner and teach the young to honor it as well.

RAINBOW'S END

A NOVEL
BY REX BLACH
AUTHOR OF
"THE IRON TRAIL" "THE SPOILERS" "HEART OF THE SUNSET ETC."
COPYRIGHT, BY HARTER AND BROTHERS.

Among Betancourt's troops was a man who had been living in the hills at the time Asencio and his family had abandoned their struggle for existence, and to him O'Reilly went. This fellow, it seemed, had remained with his family in the mountains some time after Asencio's departure. It was from him that O'Reilly heard his first authentic report of the atrocities perpetrated by Cobo's volunteers. This man had lost his wife, his little son, and all the scanty belongings he possessed. With shaking hands upstretched to heaven, the fellow cursed the author of his misfortune.

"I live for one thing," he cried shrilly—"to meet that monster, and to butcher him, as he butchers women and children."

O'Reilly purposely left his most unpleasant task to the last. When his arrangements had been completed and he had acquainted himself as far as possible with the hazards he was likely to encounter, he took Jacket aside and broke the news to him that on the following morning they must part. As he had expected, the boy refused to listen to him. O'Reilly remained firm and Jacket began to wail copiously. He worked himself up to a hysterical crescendo which threatened to arouse the entire encampment. But O'Reilly was unmoved.

"Be quiet," he told the boy. "I won't let you go with me, and that ends it. It will be hard enough for one man to slip through; two would be sure to fail."

"Those Spaniards will kill you!" Jacket wailed.

"So much the more reason for you to stay here."

At this the boy uttered a louder cry. He stamped his bare feet in a frenzy of disappointment. "You don't leave me—you desert!"

"Listen, people are starving in Matanzas; they are sick; they are dying in the streets."

"I don't eat much."

When Johnnie shook his head stubbornly Jacket launched himself into a torrent of profanity the violence of which dried his tears. His vocabulary was surprising. He reviled the Spaniards, O'Reilly, himself, everybody and everything. He leveled anathemas at that woman who had come between him and his beloved benefactor. The latter listened good-naturedly.

"You're a tough kid," he laughed, when Jacket's first rage had worn itself out. "I like you, and I'd take you with me."

"You're a Tough Kid!" He Laughed.

If I could. But this isn't an enterprise for a boy, and it won't get you anything to keep up this racket."

Jacket next tried the power of argument. He attempted to prove that in a hazardous undertaking of this sort his assistance would be invaluable. He was, so he declared, the one person in all Cuba in every respect qualified to share O'Reilly's perils. To begin with, he was not afraid of Spaniards, or anything else, for that matter—he dismissed the subject of personal courage with a contemptuous shrug. As for cunning, sagacity, prudence, resource, all-around worth, he was, without doubt, unequalled in the country. He was a veritable Spartan, too, when it came to hardship—privation and suffering were almost to him. He was discreet—discretion was something he had inherited; he was a diplomat—diplomacy being one of his most unique accomplishments. As for this talk about danger, O'Reilly need not concern himself in the least on that score, for Jacket was a small eater and could grow fat on a diet of dried legumes. Disease? Bah! It made him laugh. His experience with sickness was wider than most fisticos, and he was a better nurse than Miss Evans would ever be. Jacket did not wish to appear in the least boastful. On the contrary, he was actually too modest, as his friends could attest, but truth compelled him to admit that he was just the man for O'Reilly. He found it impossible to recommend himself too highly; to leave his soul he could think of no qualification in which he was lacking and could see no reason why his benefactor would not greatly profit by the free use of his amazing talents. The enterprise was difficult; it would certainly fail without him. Johnnie remained carefully attentive during this adjuration. He felt no desire even to smile, for the boy's earnestness was touching and it caused the elder man's throat to tighten uncomfortably. Johnnie had not realized before how fond he had become of this quaint youngster. And so, when the little fellow paused hopefully, O'Reilly put an arm around him.

"I'm sure you are everything you say you are, Jacket, and more, too, but you can't go."

With that Jacket flung off the embrace and, stalking away, seated himself. He took a half-smoked cigar from the pocket of his shirt and lit it, scowling the while at his friend. More than once during the evening O'Reilly detected his sullen, angry eyes upon him.

General Betancourt and several members of his staff were up early the following morning to bid their visitor good-bye. In spite of their efforts to make the parting cheerful it was plain that they had but little hope of ever again seeing this foolhardy American.

Johnnie's spirits were not in the least affected by this ill-concealed pessimism, for, as he told himself, he had money in his pockets and Matanzas was not many miles away. But when he came to part from Jacket he experienced a genuine disappointment. The boy, strangely enough, was almost indifferent to his leaving; he merely extended a limp, dirty hand, and replied to O'Reilly's parting words with a careless "Adios!"

In hurt surprise the former inquired, "Don't we part good friends?"

"Sure!" Jacket shrugged, then turned away.

Jacket was a likable youngster; his devotion was thoroughly unselfish; it had not been easy to wound him. With keener regrets than he cared to acknowledge O'Reilly set out upon his journey, following the guide whom General Betancourt had provided.

It was a lovely morning, sufficiently warm to promise a hot midday; the air was moist and fresh from a recent shower. This being the rainy season, the trails were soft, and where the rich red Cuban soil was exposed the travelers sank into it as into wet putty.

Crossing a rocky ridge, O'Reilly and his guide at last emerged upon an open slope, knee-high in grass and grown up to bottle palms, those queer, distorted trees whose trunks are swollen into the likeness of earthen water jars. Scattered here and there over the meadows were the dead or fallen trunks of another variety, the cabbage palm, the green heart of which had long formed a staple article of diet for the Insurrectos. Spanish axes had been at work here and not a single tree remained alive. The green floor of the valley farther down was dotted with the other, the royal kind, that monarch of tropic vegetation which lends to the Cuban landscape its peculiar and distinctive beauty.

"Yonder is the camino," said the countryman, pointing into the valley; "it will lead you to the main road, and there"—he turned to the northward—"is Matanzas. Go with God, and don't drink the well water, which is polluted from the rains." With a smile and a wave of the hand the man turned back and plunged into the jungle.

As O'Reilly descended the slope he realized keenly that he was alone and in hostile territory. The hills and the woods from Pinar del Rio to Oriente were Cuban, or, at most, they were disputed ground. But here in the plains and valleys near the cities Spain was supreme. From this moment on O'Reilly knew he must rely entirely upon himself. The success of his enterprise—his very life—hinged upon his caution, his powers of dissimulation, his ability to pass as a harmless, helpless pacifist. It gave him an unaccustomed thrill, by no means pleasant.

The road, when he came to it, proved to be a deep gutter winding between red clay banks cut by the high wheels of clumsy cane carts. Inasmuch as no crops whatever had been moved over the road during the past season, it was now little more than an oozy, sticky rut. Not a road, but a chimney was in sight; the valley was deserted. There was a fertile farming country—and yet no living thing, no sound of bells, no voices, no crowing cocks, no lowing cattle. It was depressing to O'Reilly, and more, for there was something menacing and threatening about it all.

Toward noon the breeze lessened and it became insufferably hot. A bank of clouds in the east promised a cooling shower, so Johnnie sought the nearest shade to wait for it, and took advantage of the delay to eat his slender lunch. He was meditatively munching a sweet potato when a sound at his back caused him to leap to his feet in alarm. He whirled, then uttered an exclamation of amazement. Seated not fifty feet away was a bare-legged boy, similarly engaged in eating a sweet potato. It was Jacket. His brown cheeks were distended, his bright, inquisitive eyes were fixed upon O'Reilly from beneath a defiant scowl.

"Jacket!" cried the man. "What the devil are you doing here?"

"You going to let me come along?" Jacket challenged the intruder.

"So! You followed me, after I said I didn't want you?" O'Reilly spoke reproachfully; but reproaches had no effect upon the lad. With a mild expletive, Jacket signified his contempt for such a weak form of persuasion.

"See here, now?" O'Reilly stepped closer. "Let's be sensible about this."

But Jacket scrambled to his feet and retreated warily, stuffing the uncut portion of the sweet potato into his mouth. It was plain that he had no confidence in O'Reilly's intentions. Muttering something in a muffled voice, he armed himself with a stout stick.

"Come here," commanded the American.

Jacket shook his head. He made a painful attempt to swallow, and when his utterance became more distinct he confessed his idea to a warmer place than Cuba.

"Don't get gay on me," he declared.

The two parleyed briefly; then, when satisfied that no violence was intended him, the boy sat down to listen. But, as before, neither argument nor appeal had the slightest effect upon him. He declared that he had followed his benefactor; he declared that he was a free agent and at liberty to go where he wished. If it so chanced that his fancy took him to the city of Matanzas at the same time O'Reilly happened to be traveling thither, the circumstance might be put down to the long arm of coincidence. If his company were distasteful to the elder man, O'Reilly was free to wait and follow later; it was a matter of complete indifference to Jacket. He had business in Matanzas and he proposed to attend to it. The boy lied gravely, unblushingly. Nevertheless, he kept a watchful eye upon his hearer.

"Very well," O'Reilly told him finally. "I give in."

Jacket's face instantly lit up. He radiated good humor; he hitched his body closer.

"By—I get my own way, don't I?" he laughed.

"Indeed you do," O'Reilly laid a hand fondly upon his loyal follower.

"And I don't mind telling you that I'm more than half glad of it. I—I was getting lonesome. I didn't know how much I could miss you. But now we must make some plans, we must have an understanding and decide who we are. Let me see—your real name is Narciso."

"Narciso Villar."

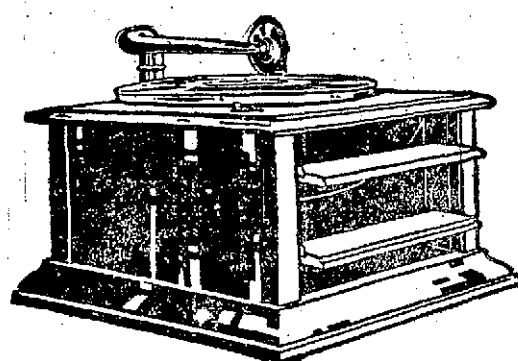

"Well, then, I shall be Juan Villar, your brother. Henceforth, we shall speak nothing but Spanish. Tell me now, what was our father's name, where was our home, and what are we doing together?"

During the breathless interval before the shower the two sat with their heads together, talking earnestly. As the wind came and the cooling rain began to rattle on the leaves overhead they took up their bundles and set out. The big drops dripped down their bodies; overhead the sky was black and rent by vivid streaks of fire, but they plodded onward cheerfully.

Jacket was himself again; he bent his weight against the tempest and lengthened his short strides to O'Reilly's. He tried to whistle, but his teeth chattered and the wind interfered, so he hummed a song, to drive the chill out of his bones and to hearten his benefactor. Now that he was at last accepted as a full partner in this enterprise, it became his duty not only to share its perils, but to lessen its hardships and to yield diversion.

The rain was cold, the briars beside the overgrown path were sharp, and they scratched the boy's bare legs cruelly; his stomach churned for a consolation to that solitary sweet potato, but in his breast glowed ardor and pride. Jacket considered himself a fortunate person—a very fortunate person, indeed. Had he not found a brother, and did not that brother love him? There was no doubt about the latter, for O'Reilly's eyes, when he looked down, were friendly and intimate. Here was a man to die for.

The downpour lasted but a short time, when the sun came out and dried

U.S. DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE HOW TO GROW Snap Beans.

Brush and pole beans are among the most valuable and dependable crops of the garden. "When in doubt what to plant—plant beans."

Beans thrive best in a rather warm sandy loam, but may be grown on almost any kind of soil. For the best results the soil should not be too rich in nitrogenous matter, or the plants will run to foliage and stems at the expense of the crop. Beans will not withstand frost, and the first plantings in the spring should not be made until about two weeks after the average date of the last killing frost. The soil should be in good condition and the rows should be laid out perfectly straight so as to make cultivation easy. One plot of the seed of most varieties of snap beans is sufficient for a 100-foot row. When the cultivation is to be done by horse, the rows should be from 30 to 35 inches apart. When hand cultivation is to be employed, the rows should be from 18 to 24 inches apart. It requires from 40 to 60 days for snap beans to be ready for use if the weather conditions are favorable.

Successive plantings of string beans should be made at intervals of ten days to two weeks throughout the growing season. By following this scheme a constant supply of tender beans will be assured.—U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The Kind They Were. "The man picked up unconscious in the street the other day was suffering from knockout drops."

Wilhelm's Idea of Golf.

The German emperor's knowledge of golf is by no means extensive. His generosity, however, made him lend a ready ear to the request of Sir Frank Lascelles for a grant of land for the purpose of a golf course.

"So you want ground for your golf club, sir Frank?" he said. "We haven't got nice grass meadows round Berlin like you have in England, but I'll give you a bit of the Grunewald."

Now, the Grunewald is a pine forest near the capital, and a favorite Sunday resort of the people of Berlin. The ambassador thought it out for a moment, and then answered, somewhat doubtfully:

"Ah, sir, I am afraid there would be too many trees."

"Trees!" exclaimed his majesty. "All the better to keep the sun off when you are playing in the summer."

of rotting corpses. Go back where the air is clean." He swung his long lash over the oxen, they leaped against the load, and the cart creaked dismally on its way.

It is never difficult to enter a trap, and Matanzas was precisely that. There were soldiers everywhere, but beyond an indifferent challenge at the outer blackhouse, a perfunctory question or two, Narciso and Juan Villar experienced no trouble whatever in passing the line. Discipline, never strict at best, was extremely lax at the brick fortifications along the roads, and since these two refugees were too poor to warrant search, they were waved onward by the sentries. They obeyed silently; in aimless bewilderment they shuffled along toward the heart of the city. Almost before they realized it they had run the gauntlet and had joined that army of misery, fifteen thousand strong. The head of Spain had closed over them.

O'Reilly knew that although Matanzas was a prison and a pesthole, a girl like Rosa would suffer in perils infinitely worse than imprisonment or disease. It was a thought he could not bear to dwell upon.

Signs of life began to appear now, the travelers passed small garden patches and occasional cultivated fields; they encountered loaded carts bound into the city, and once they hid themselves while a column of mounted troops went by.

O'Reilly stopped to pass the time of day with a wrinkled cartman whose dejected oxen were resting.

"Going into the city, are you?" the fellow inquired. "Starved out, I suppose. Well, it's as pleasant to starve in one place as another."

Jacket helped himself to a stalk of cane from the load and began to strip it with his teeth.

"With the soldiers allow us to enter?" Johnnie inquired.

"Of course. Why not? The old man laughed mirthlessly; then his voice changed. "Go back," he said, "go back and die in the fields, Matanzas signs

APPEAL IS MADE TO THE PRODUCERS AND CONSUMERS OF COAL

To Assist in Supplying the Coming Year's Demands For Fuel.

EACH MUST BEAR A SHARE

Of Sacrifice Otherwise Production Cannot be Increased and Adequately Distributed, Says Administrator Garfield; No Change in Prices.

The following appeal has been made to the producers and consumers of coal by Fuel Administrator Garfield with a view to securing full cooperation in efforts to increase coal production during the coming year:

"We begin the new coal year of 1918-19 with an obligation resting upon every citizen of the United States to do his part, in order that the coal supply of the country may be made adequate to meet the home needs of our people and the ever-increasing demands for coal for fuel which grew out of the conflict in which we are now engaged. The Fuel Administration must have the support and the active cooperation not only of those who are engaged in production and distribution of fuel, but of every coal user in the country. Each must bear his share of the patriotic sacrifice which must be made if the coal supply is to be properly increased and adequately distributed.

"An adequate coal supply is vital to the winning of the war. Without it we can not make munitions or other war supplies or build the ships which must carry men and materials to the battle front. Without it industries will be stopped, labor thrown out of employment, and the homes of the people will be cold.

"Guided by the experience of the past winter the Fuel Administration has taken the necessary steps to clear the way for the ceaseless activity of the mines of the country in increasing the supply and for the steady, swift distribution of the nation's fuel as rapidly as it can be taken from the ground and moved over our overburdened transportation systems.

"The prices fixed by the government for coal at the mine have now been established on a stable foundation which will not be disturbed during the coming coal year, except in cases of extraordinary urgency. These prices have been adjusted by scientific and practical investigation based upon uniform cost sheet reports to insure the greatest possible stimulation of production while maintaining a reasonable and equitable price of coal to the consumer.

"By carefully drawn regulations, the Fuel Administration has insured the shipment of 'clean coal' from the mines. Coal containing an undue amount of foreign matter will be penalized in price, and producers who take extraordinary measures in the preparation of their coal will be recompensed. These measures will keep off the railroads and out of the bins of the consumers a large amount of unburnable material which was included in last year's coal production.

"Every effort has been made by the Fuel Administration to so arrange the distribution of the coal supply that it will impose the least possible burden upon the railroads of the country. Through the zone system of distribution, which became effective April 1, the movement of bituminous coal between the mine and the producer will be restricted to the shortest possible transportation lines consistent with the maintenance of an adequate and proper coal supply to all consumers.

"In accordance with these restrictions the Fuel Administration, in many cases, has allotted to consuming territory producing fields which can only fill the demand of the consumers they must supply. If production is maintained steadily throughout the coal year.

"The Fuel Administration expects the coal consumers, continuing their patriotic cooperation with the government in all its war measures, to maintain a steady and constant demand for coal in order to attain this result. Consumers must buy their winter supply of coal during the spring and summer for storage during the winter if the production is to be maintained at a maximum and the country enabled to avoid a serious coal shortage this winter. The Fuel Administration will cooperate with all communities in an effort to provide storage for emergency stocks of coal to be set aside during the spring and summer to meet emergencies of weather and transportation which may arise next winter.

"But the great storage capacity of the country lies in the bins of the individual consumer, and there the country's coal reserve must be built up during the spring and summer when coal production is unhindered and the transportation facilities of the country operating at their highest efficiency.

"To safeguard the consumer the Fuel Administration has prescribed regulations to prevent profiteering and to govern the distribution of coal by licensed jobbers and by retailers. Each domestic consumer will be permitted to secure a full normal supply of coal, but no more.

"Every ton of coal that is hoarded against future needs and is not used during the winter is actual waste. The labor and transportation used to bring the coal to the consumer and the actual energy of the coal itself are withheld from doing their part toward speedy victory. Consumers should secure just a little less coal than they believe they need and should make every shovelful give its full value in heat and power. Every shovelful saved means help for the industries in turning out supplies for our troops abroad, help for the ships that must bridge the 3,000-mile gap between our shores and the battle front, and help toward ultimate victory."

"The following appeal has been made to the producers and consumers of coal by Fuel Administrator Garfield with a view to securing full cooperation in efforts to increase coal production during the coming year:

up during the spring and summer when coal production is unhindered and the transportation facilities of the country operating at their highest efficiency.

At the Theatres

THE PARAMOUNT.

"REVENGE" — A five-part Metro feature, starring wonderful Edith Story, supported by Wheeler Oakman, is being presented today. Plenty of real western atmosphere is shown in "Revenge," which was produced at the west coast studios of Metro. Alva Leigh comes to a mining camp to marry, finds her fiancé murdered, and swears to be avenged. She stays on at the camp in hopes of finding some clue to the murder. Dick Randall and Duncan, in charge of the dance hall, give her aid in her search. Both men love her, and Alva comes to care for Dick, but Duncan permits her to overhear a conversation that persuades her that Dick killed her fiancé to gain full possession of their joint mining claim, and she punctures his cantons as Dick sets forth across Death Valley desert to record the claims. Finally all things are set clear and Alva is just in time to save Dick from death. A comedy is included. Tomorrow Roy Stewart will appear in "Keith of the Border." Thursday, Jane Elvige, supported by Carlisle Blackwell and John Bowers will be seen in "The Way Out." Friday and Saturday, Mae Marsh, known as the girl with a thousand faces, will be featured in "Fields of Honor."

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"THE FAIR BARBARIAN." — A Paramount photoplay featuring Vician Martin, will be shown today. The story deals with an American girl who visits a small English town, with the soothing effect of a small-sized cyclone. "Are Married Policemen Safe?" a Sunshine comedy will be shown also. Tomorrow, Triangle presents William S. Hart with Margery Wilson and Robert McKim in "The Primal Lure." It is an absorbing drama of life in the great Canadian Northwest.

THE SOISSON.

CONNELLVILLE LODGE 503, B. P. O. E., FIRST BOOSTER EDITION

CONNELLVILLE LODGE OF ELKS HOLDS HIGH PLACE AMONG CITY FRATERNITIES

Came Into Life in the Spring of the Year 1899 When Small Group of Leading Men Holding Membership in Nearby Towns Got Together and Agreed That Connellsville Was Big Enough for Lodge of Its Own; Frank L. Brendel First Exalted Ruler But Served Only Short Time and J. M. Doyle Succeeded Him; Interesting History of the Order.

MEMBERSHIP IS FOUR HUNDRED SEVENTY-FIVE

Connellsville Lodge No. 503 of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks holds a position in Elkdom of which its 475 members may well feel proud. Ever since its organization it has ranked high among the fraternal bodies of this part of the state.

The lodge had its beginning on May 7, 1899, when a coterie of Connellsville citizens, then members of Uniontown and nearby lodges, met in the office of the Daily News to consider the advisability of establishing a lodge in Connellsville. Among the persons present at that meeting were James M. Doyle, C. A. Brill, S. E. Mason, J. D. Madigan, C. M. Vance, John Duggan, John Duggan, W. D. McGinnis, Thomas V. Donegan, J. S. Bryner and Robert F. Sheppard. At this meeting with J. M. Doyle presiding and W. D. McGinnis acting as secretary, a committee composed of C. A. Brill, W. D. McGinnis, J. S. Bryner, J. D. Madigan and Thomas V. Donegan was appointed to secure suitable quarters, after it had been unanimously decided that Connellsville needed and could support a lodge of Elks.

A charter having been secured from the Grand Lodge, officers were elected and the installation took place on the afternoon of June 5, 1899, the service being in charge of George F. Falkenstein of McKeesport, representing the Grand Lodge. The evening of the day of the installation was a memorable occasion—a banquet being served in Odd Fellows hall with many prominent citizens of the city, men not affiliated with the order, as guests.

The first corps of officers selected to guide the affairs of the infant lodge was composed of Frank L. Brendel, exalted ruler; J. M. Doyle, esteemed leading knight; H. S. Stout, esteemed loyal knight; J. E. Sullivan, esteemed lecturing knight; W. D. McGinnis, secretary; George T. Griffin, treasurer; Thomas V. Donegan, Tyler; C. A. Brill, esquire; C. M. Vance, inner guard; H. L. Kurtz, chaplain; R. Marietta, James Edward and W. D. Anderson, trustees.

On account of his manifold duties as an official of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company, Mr. Brendel was forced to resign the office of exalted ruler shortly after his election. J. M. Doyle was chosen as his successor. Mr. Doyle served the full term and enjoys the distinction of being the first past exalted ruler of the lodge.

On April 14, 1902, the John Kurtz owned at East Crawford avenue (then Main street) and Mountain alley was purchased for the sum of $12,000 for a club house. H. M. Keppart heading the committee which closed the deal. Possession was immediately given and the house was finished complete at a cost of $4,500. M. K. Smith was exalted ruler at this time. Mr. Smith, who was division operator for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company, met his death at the wreck of the Duquesne Limited at Dawson in December 1902.

November 22, 1915, during the incumbency of J. E. Wallace as exalted ruler, arrangements were completed for erection of an addition to the club house. This was only recently completed at an expense of $18,000. Following his tenure as exalted ruler, Mr. Wallace was elected secretary, high position he has since held.

Since its institution Connellsville lodge has had 20 exalted rulers. Of that number Thomas V. Donegan and James B. Millard had the honor of

WHAT IS AN ELK?

Post Answers Question in the Following Words:

What is an Elk? Well, let me see! He's one whose heart is light and free. A man who's honest to the ground, Who spreads God's sunshine all around. He's one who always seeks a plan To help alone his fellowman Upon his heart our virtues stand, And that's an Elk.

What is an Elk? A prince I think. Oh, yes, he'll sometimes take a drink.

But when you're down and out, my friends There is the hand he always lends. His heart is there his purse is too, And always to his oath he's true. He's one when his seems dark and drear, Will give you words of hope and cheer— And that's an Elk.

What is an Elk? When all is said He soothes the sick and mourns the dead. He is not always blithe and gay, He knows there comes a time to pray.

And when a brother's called above His grave is moist with tears of love.

And as time goes the page we scan, The world is better for this man— And that's an Elk.

The show was given on three nights and each night the theater was packed to capacity. That is what the Connellsville lodge is hoping for tomorrow and Wednesday nights at the Soisson theater.

Presents Elk's Head.

'Uncle Joe' Bensinger, proprietor of the Arlington Hotel, has presented Connellsville Lodge of Elks with a magnificent elk's head the officers of which have a spread of four and one-half feet. It has been mounted over the chair of the esteemed leading knight.

HOSPITALITY SECRET

Social Gatherings One of Big Features of Elks' Calendar.

Every Elk prides himself on the hospitality of the B. P. O. E. A brother never visits the home in East Crawford avenue without going away feeling that he was glad to have been there.

The committee in charge of affairs are ever planning to make the hours the members and visitors spend there worth while. From reports that have come out of the home here they succeed. Hospitality is one of the secrets of the growth of the lodge.

LARGE SEAT SALE

Soisson Theater Will Be Packed for Elks' Minstrel Show.

An unexcelled program has been arranged for the annual minstrel of Connellsville Lodge of the B. P. O. E. tomorrow and Wednesday nights. The best talent in the city has been secured for the occasion.

The seat sale is large and there are already evidences of packed houses both nights.

Elks' Lodge Officers.

Besides Exalted Ruler Tippman the Elks' officers who were installed Monday night of last week, are: Esteemed leading knight A. I. Daniels, esteemed loyal knight M. B. Pryce, esteemed lecturing knight C. F. Rowe, secretary J. E. Wallace, treasurer, H. C. Hays, Tyler, W. D. DeBoit, trustees, T. H. Ryan, J. M. Doyle and J. C. Herwick, organist, B. L. Sullivan.

ELKS ORDER DEMONSTRATES WHAT CAN BE ATTAINED BY ORGANIZATION EFFICIENCY

Built on a Foundation of Charity, Brotherly Love, Justice and Fidelity it Has Risen to a Place of Power and Influence Among the Fraternal Bodies of the World; Dispensation of Charity is Not Equalled by Any Other Organization of the Kind, but Giving is Unostentatious, in Keeping With Intent of Its Founders.

RECOGNIZES NO CREED; IS BIG ENOUGH FOR ALL

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks rightly lays claim to the leading place among the fraternal organizations of America. It demonstrates in a high degree what efficiency in organization can accomplish. The founders of the Order of Elks builded better than they knew. Launched by a little band in New York in the year 1868 the order has grown to such an extent that its charities of unostentatious character, exceed those of any other similar organization in the world.

In the beginning it was founded on the principles of charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity and on that foundation it has grown to massive strength. Charity as Elks teach it and endeavor to practice it embraces consideration of the rights of others, tolerance of opposing views, whether political or religious, and regard for the temptations that surround and beset a brother along his journey of life.

Contributions to charitable enterprises through which the name of the donor may be heralded, signing public subscription lists that all the world may know how generous the subscriber is—such acts do not constitute charity as the Elks see it and as the order teaches it. Charity to the Elks means understanding the needs of those who may have fallen in the struggle and affording assistance of whatever nature may be required. Charity is humanity in its highest sense. Charity is love for the fellow man.

Fifteen centuries ago, Mahomet, the founder of the religion which has been the greatest barrier to the spread of Christianity declared: "Every good act is charity. Your smiling in your brother's face is charity, an exhortation to your fellow man to virtuous deeds is equal to almsgiving, your putting a wanderer in the right road is charity, your assisting the blind is charity, your giving water to the thirsty is charity."

Emmanuel Swedenborg, the great theologian of the eighteenth century defined charity as neighborly love. He wrote: "Charity is the kernel of Christianity and the outward forms the shell."

Charity is putting oneself in the other fellow's place. No man has a right to sit in judgment on the acts of his neighbor. Providence has gifted no one of us with eyes that see the scars upon souls nor with ears that can hear the battles between will and weakness that rage in the heart of another.

No man's life has been so full nor has he journeyed so far that he can know the lures and temptations that face all men and all women—the creeds upon which they were reared—the early influences that surrounded them—the griefs that they bear—the hurts that they wear and the storms that beat upon their hearts. Not every man has felt the need of bread nor the want of a roof, nor privations that have battered the edge of his resolution.

No man has a right to constitute himself a Trial Board of the community's morals. This order teaches charity of thought and word and deed. Elks believe, also, in justice but not the stern, unyielding justice that a Puritan would demand and a Shylock enforce. An old philosopher admitted: "I am not wise enough to know what justice is." The gentle

"We accept all creeds that recognize the brotherhood of man. There is no quarrel between this order and any Continued on Page Sixteen."

ORDER OF ELKS IS AN INSTITUTION PURELY AMERICAN

Was Originally Known as "The Jolly Corks," Theatrical Folks.

HAD BIRTH IN NEW YORK

Designation Adopted in 1863; Elk Won Over Buffalo by Narrow Margin of Single Vote; Now Is Recognized as One of Most Powerful in the World.

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, that resonant and euphonistic appellation designating an order conceived in the fundamental principles of charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity, had its origin nearly 25 years ago. In this short space of less than two score years an organization, originally known as the "Jolly Corks," purely local in character and confined to the members of the theatrical and musical profession in New York City, has expanded into a powerful order of international standing. Charles J. Allen, a Sidney Vinton, son of an English clergyman, is authoritatively credited with being the paternal ancestor of the B. P. O. E., the designation adopted at a meeting in New York held on February 16, 1863.

By a margin of one vote was the elk chosen above the buffalo as the zoological shibboleth of the order. The constitution and by-laws were adopted in the following month and the infant fairly was out of swaddling clothes. Richard B. Sterly, the succeeding year, became exalted ruler and shortly afterwards the membership restrictions were expanded so as to include those of all bright lights in the worlds of art, music, literature, science, etc. An act of the New York assembly passed March 10, 1871, and two days later the Philadelphia lodge was installed. It was not until 1870 that the San Francisco lodge was installed. It was in the year 1885 when 20 lodges were installed that the lodge experienced its first great boom that presaged the tremendous growth it was to enjoy later.

The lodge is purely an American institution. The Stars and Stripes are draped over the altar and each member is by virtue of his membership a true citizen and loyal follower of the flag. The lodge has nothing of a mercenary nature, offers no pecuniary advantage that would induce membership and offers no insurance. It is essentially an organization that appeals to the best there is in man and no one may join it who does not subscribe to its tenets, principles and teachings.

Keeping over green in the hearts of the members the memory of the departed is one of the most beautiful of the teachings of the order and it is symbolized in the 11 o'clock toast, "To Our Absent Brothers." Every where throughout the country where there is an Elks' lodge the thoughts of the living revert at 11 o'clock to those that have departed this life in the body but ever are with us in the spirit.

The Elks' lodge is entirely free from both political and religious prejudice. A belief in the existence of a Supreme Being is all. The lodge is not concerned with the form in which this belief is expressed in the church affiliation of its members; the organization being predicated on the belief of its membership in the imperishable principles of charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity. The spreading arms of this broad belief in man for man embraces the Jew and the gentile, the Catholic and the Protestant, the rich and the poor; all men that believe in the Fatherhood of God and the common brotherhood of man.

The motto of the order is: "The faults of our brothers we write upon the sands, and their virtues upon the tablets of love and memory," with the ground work and foundation of the golden rule for life: "Do unto others as you would they should do unto you." Our colors are purple and white and the dorsal emblem "that blue and bright-eyed flower of the brook, hope's gentle gem, forget-me-not." The songs sung in the lodge room are "The Star Spangled Banner," "Nearer, My God, to Thee," "Home, Sweet Home" and "Auld Lang Syne."

CONNIE MACK HAS HOPE

Connie Mack can't see why baseball writers everywhere are predicting utter ruin for him next summer.

"My team won't be so very bad," says Mack. "No, it won't be as good as I would like. It won't be a pennant winner; that is, I hardly think it will; but my team will play some mighty good baseball, or else I shall be greatly mistaken. I may finish eighth, but I don't expect to."

PRIVATE TRACK FOR HIS THOROUGHBREDS

William Sharpe Kilmer, capitalist and a sportsman of international reputation, has a private racetrack at his beautiful estate at Binghamton, N. Y. Mr. Kilmer, who is the owner of the Binghamton Press, has several high-class thoroughbreds in his stables, including Sun Briar, the champion two-year-old of 1917. Sun Briar is named after Mr. Kilmer's estate Sun Briar Court.

TECHNICAL TRAINING OF DRAFTED MEN TO BE TAKEN UP IN SCHOOLS

Federal Board for Vocational Education Preparing Courses of Study for State Schools.

A war-emergency course to train conscripted men for machine-shop occupations, blacksmithing, sheet-metal working, and pipe fitting has been prepared by the Federal Board for Vocational Education and will be distributed to the schools throughout the country as soon as it can be printed. It is known as Bulletin No. 8.

"There is a critical and constantly growing need for many thousands of mechanics and technicians for Army occupations carried on in and behind the lines of the United States Army," declares the Board for Vocational Education. "Many of these workers, already experienced in similar occupations of civil life, will be secured through voluntary enlistment. It is recognized by those in a position to know that the quotas thus obtained will not be sufficient, and that it will be necessary to give special training to many thousands of men for various occupations and in various ways. The War Department has taken definite steps to provide for this training systematically through Army schools and in some instances at cantonments, but largely at the industrial, trade, and engineering schools of the country."

The Federal Board for Vocational Education is acting for the War Department in preparing these courses of study and in dealing with the state authorities in charge of the school work. Men who take these courses, it is declared, "should not be led to believe that they are learning a trade. They are serving their country by learning to do a special job well, though to some extent this training may be beneficial to them in after life."

ELKS' MEMBERSHIP CARD EVIDENCE OF U. S. CITIZENSHIP

Its Possession is a Passport Anywhere From Coast to Coast, Without Question.

The following shows how an Elk's card proved valuable in the European war zone, says the Jolly Elk:

"On the morning of that historic day, August 1, 1914, in Berlin, Germany, Brother Robert W. Kiewert, of Milwaukee Lodge, No. 46, read that all foreigners were to provide themselves with passports, for no one without proper credentials would thereafter be permitted to move about Europe."

He immediately called at the embassy of the United States and made application for an emergency passport, being unable to talk the German language (more so the Berlin dialect) like a native he had a premonition that he would be taken for a German and possibly get into difficulty with the military authorities upon leaving the country.

Our ambassador, Mr. J. W. Gerard, asked, "Have you anything to show that you are a citizen of the United States?" Without hesitation, Brother Kiewert presented his membership card, showing him to be an Elk in good standing, with a comment, "How's that?" "Nothing better in all the world," was the ambassador's reply; and our brother was provided with passports, which carried him safely out of the war zone.

Brother Kiewert, born in Milwaukee, joined No. 46 in 1900, became a life member in 1914 and claims that while he always carried his membership card with him, in this particular instance it brought home very forcibly upon him of what real and true value the card really is, to any Elk in good standing.

Promises

One of the incomprehensible things to a child is the fashion some grown-up people have of promising and forgetting. There is no surer way to lose a child's confidence and love.

They do not understand excuses or the pressure of circumstances; they only know "She said she would and she didn't." One child who had used the word "promise" was asked to tell its meaning. He replied: "To promise is to keep it in your mind, keep it in your mind, keep it in your mind till you do it."—Liverpool Post.

ELKS GIVE FUND FOR REBUILDING OF HUMAN WRECKS

First Hospital for Purpose Financed By $250,000 Contribution.

WILL PERFORM MIRACLES

Men Crippled in Battle Will Be Made Useful to Themselves and the Nation; War's Liabilities Through It Are to be Turned Into Assets.

America's first great hospital for the reconstruction of wounded men has been accepted by the Government from the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. The hospital buildings will be erected on Parker Hill, near the Robert Brigham Hospital, in Boston, at a cost of $250,000. The money was taken from the Elks' $1,000,000 war relief fund.

With American wounded being actually carried back from the fighting front, Surgeon-General Gorgas' office declared itself equipped and ready to rebuild human wreckage into able-bodied men.

A string of reclamation hospitals extends from the French lines to the shores of this country. Every device and resource known to science is at hand to rebuild nearly every part of the human frame. Men with half their faces shot away by shrapnel will get new jawbones from their ribs and new noses and new cheeks from the cartilage and tissue on other parts of their bodies.

The Surgeon-General's staff believes the value of this service to America cannot be estimated. Thousands of men who would be wrecked without proper treatment will be sent back to the fighting, and others will be rebuilt and taught trades that will make them economic assets instead of liabilities. Even a man deaf, dumb, blinded and paralyzed from the waist down will be taught a trade at which he can work.

Plans are being completed for a big base hospital in this country where all totally disabled men will be sent after the European hospitals have done all they can for them. In this hospital additional efforts will be made to improve their condition.

In re-educating the deaf, dumb or blind they will be sent to private institutions at Government expense. Those desiring technical training will be sent to technical schools. Others will be trained for civil service, agricultural work, or whatever they choose.

General Gorgas' idea is to build few hospitals in this country exclusively for this reclamation work. The greater part of such surgery will be done just behind the lines.

TAPS WIRELESS KEY FOR HIS UNCLE SAM

Baseball has lost another player by reason of the war in the person of Morris Rath, who joined the United States Navy recently. Rath is now learning the fundamentals of wireless in the naval wireless school in Philadelphia. He was given a tryout by several major league teams, and last year made such a good showing with the Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast league, that Christy Mathewson signed him for a trial with the Cincinnati Reds this year. Rath at one time played second base for the Kansas City club of the American association. The photo shows him operating a wireless key at one of the government naval training stations.

MEN OF HIGHEST TYPE MAKE UP ORDER OF ELKS

Its Members Are Regarded as Among "The Best People
on the Earth."

WRITE FAULTS ON SANDS

They Constantly Keep in Mind the Great Principles of Charity and Brotherly Love, Considering Them
to be the Mainstays of Civilization.

By "AN ELK."

The Elk is born, not made. Certain forms and ceremonies are necessary to bring him into full fellowship; an obligation which wakes every echo in the human heart, a quick trip over the rock hard, a password and a grip, a high sign or irrigation or other extreme function—these are necessary to organization and concerted action, and having these he dons the antlers and is an Elk.

But though wearing the emblem of "the best people on earth," and wearing worthily, yet there are others—his is, after all, only one of that great order, which, without ritual or insignia, has ever been the sheet-anchor of humanity and the mainstay of the world since civilization, and on whose roster is written, I hope, your name and mine—the brotherhood of man.

It was from the unwritten work of this order that we got the motto of Elkdom: "The faults of our brothers we write in the sands; their virtues on the tablets of love and memory"—a golden rule which is blessed twin of the other, and on both of which the magnificent fraternal structure which we honor today as the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks was founded and built.

Let us not forget, then, that despite the hundreds of thousands who answer to the greeting of "Hello, Bill!" there are multitudes more who though not officially affiliated with belong in the antler herd and will compare with the best in the bunch.

Everybody who believes in and loves humanity—who reveres one Good Man and knows there are many more good men—is an Elk.

He who believes in and applies charity in its broadest sense—without casebandian boast or pharisaical proclamation—is an Elk.

The man or woman who knows that it is never too late—that many a shipwrecked soul has been saved by friendly reason rising out of blackest night, or timely throw of a life-line—is an Elk. The man who meets a brother and a fellow who has been up against it good, who has played the limit of license and hard luck, and who admits that he is much to blame, but insists that he can and will do better, and who is willing to believe that he is not wholly bad and well worthy of having assistance—is an Elk.

He or she, who, without clatter of hoofs or bombastic bellow, lights up a sick room with a smile and a word of good cheer—is an Elk. A bunch of flowers or a basket of fruit, a meal ticket or Uncle Sam's autobiography, a hospital bill paid and a ticket back home—these footprints of the long horns which even the novice knows. All men who feel and know that faith, hope and happiness in this life make a mighty good heaven, and realize that it can be attained through love and forbearance, toward each other—are Elks. In truth it is the very heart of what the Nazarene taught, brethren, it is the blasphemy from the orthodox standpoint.

BUSINESS WAS RUSHING

Harry Frazee, Jr., fifteen years old, is an enterprising schoolboy.

Last spring he wrote to his father, president of the Red Sox, for half a dozen new balls. Frazee, Sr., paid $1.25 each for them and shipped them immediately. Several weeks later he received another urgent request for a second half dozen, which also were sent with a letter asking what had been done with the first batch.

Back came a reply which read: "I sold the first half dozen at a quarter apiece. Business is rushing!"

GREAT HEART OF ELKDOM SWELLS AT THE HOUR OF ELEVEN FOR THE ABSENT

In the Book of Numbers it is writ: "And the Lord said unto Moses, put off thy shoes, for the ground on which thou standest is holy ground." This injunction is still faithfully observed among the races of the Orient.

In the Order of Elks we have a holy injunction that the hour of eleven is dedicated to the memory of the "absent brothers," some of whom are engaged in various pursuits in the land of the living, while others have been called to the great beyond.

When this hour falls upon the dial of night the great heart of Elkdom swells and throbs, as it is the golden hour of recollection.

Hark, my friends, that alarm at the door,
Tell us those brothers have come back once more
Who wandered away in that great world unknown,
Now the hour's eleven, so gathering home
We find them again with their wealth of good cheer
To gladden the hearts of the boys that have left here.
Then open the door to the lodge of your soul,
Call them all in, let the tales be retold,
Which bring to mind the victories they won,
The good they achieve for the cause of Elkdom.
Do we welcome them home? Yes, they know that we do
That we've never forgotten, that our hearts are still true.

To all Elks who roam o'er the earth or in Heaven
When the hands on the dial point—eleven.
So here's to our absent Brothers!
Look at the clock, 'tis the hour of eleven.
Think of those on earth, and those in Heaven,
Think of your wives, sisters and mothers,
And drink in silence "To Our Absent Brothers."

MAN WHO SCATTERS SUNSHINE FOLLOWS IN PATH OF MASTER

That is Belief of Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

IT TEACHES PRINCIPLE

Growth of Organization to Membership of 450,000 is One of the Results of Practice of Charity, Justice, of Fidelity and Brotherly Love.

The principles of our order are Charity, Justice, Brotherly Love and Fidelity. These are the foundations upon which our order is founded;
these are the magic words that in the space of 50 years have made this the greatest American fraternal order.

We believe the man that scatters
flowers in the pathway of his fellow-men and lets into the dark places of life the sunshine of human sympathy and human helpfulness is following in the footsteps of his Master.

We believe a smile is better than a frown, sunshine better than clouds, and laughter is the sweetest music in
all the world.

We believe in goodfellowship and that it is our duty now and then to turn aside from the cares and anxieties of life and sip the honey from
the flower of pleasure.

My brothers, in the struggles, trials and triumphs of the future we must do our work and act our parts, and we will best perform our duties to our selves, families, neighbors, to country,
state and humanity, by keeping constantly in view the noble principles of our order.

Great movements in the world are not the result of chance, and it does not merely happen that half a million of America's best citizenship have identified themselves with the Order of Elks. They have done so because it stands for something which commands the respect and sympathy and admiration of good and true men.

Because it stands for patriotism and loyalty to our country and its institutions and as a constant lesson in that patriotism and love of country, it drapes the American flag upon the altar of every lodge which opens a session under its authority.

Because it stands for justice between man and man; justice tempered with gentleness and mercy, and, as an emblem of that justice, upon our country's flag we place an open Bible.

Because it teaches the sweet virtue of brotherly love, not only between members of our order, but toward all mankind.

And because above, and beyond all,
it teaches as a fundamental basis of
its creed, an all-embracing charity, not merely the cold charity that limits itself to the pearly gifts of alms,
but that sweet charity which freely spends itself in kindly words, in generous thoughts, in gracious deeds and warm-hearted love.

These are the things that have appealed to men and caused them to flock to our standard and to swell the mighty host that is marching forward
under its broad-winged banners.

Adam Missed Pleasure.

Consider Adam—He never had to

IF YOU WANT TO BE AN ELK, PRACTICE THESE.

Don't worry about your work,
or what others do or say. Do
the best you can, let the rest
go, and smile all the time.

Put the Golden Rule into practice. Judge men, not by single acts but by the sum of all their acts up-to-date. When men fall be fair.

Make one person happy each day and in forty years you have made fourteen thousand six hundred human beings happy
for a little time at least.

SHOW FOR BEST CAUSE

Entire Net Proceeds of Elks' Minstrel Go to Red Cross.

Not since Elks and minstrelsy became inseparably associated has Con-nectville Lodge of the B. P. O. E.
given the proceeds of its annual entertainment to a better cause than the Red Cross. The Connellsville chapter will receive the net proceeds of the shows tomorrow and Wednesday nights and therefore the Elks feel they are doing a good work in asking the people to pack the Solsson Theater both nights.

The money spent will bring a twofold return—the pleasure of witnessing a good entertainment and that of knowing that the proceeds will help
the wounded and sick soldiers who have gone and are going to the front.

Will Name Officers.

Appointive officers of Connellsville Lodge of Elks will be named at the next meeting by the new exalted ruler, J. G. Tippman.

BOOSTER COMMITTEE

Live Lot of Men in Charge of Annual Elks' Minstrel Show.

J. M. Doyle, who served the first full term as exalted ruler of Con-nectville Lodge of Elks and who by virtue of that service became the first past exalted ruler of the lodge, is chairman of the committee in charge of the minstrel being put on tomorrow
and Wednesday nights at the Solsson Theater. Associated with him are 19 fellow Elks.

Raymond E. Shaw is treasurer of booster advertising, and James Scarry treasurer of tickets. The other members are M. B. Pryce, F. E. Koelker, Harry Hopkins, Robert W. Lelberger,
Joseph G. Tippman, David S. Trimble,
C. A. Wagner, A. R. Duncan, Gaetano
Corrado, Harry Smith, Alfred Hampton, Otto Koehler, J. B. Millard, Mr.
Smith, J. J. Driscoll, Joseph J. Thompson and Doc Buttermore.

JUDGED BY CHARACTER

Applicant for Membership in Elks Must Believe Self Worthy.

One who permits his name to go before an Elks' lodge as applicant for membership, has abundant reason, and a recognized right to expect that he will be considered upon his worthiness as a man and that he will surely be judged by his character and standing in the community in which he lives.
He expects that the ultimate action by the lodge will be in accordance with his established habits of life in a social way, and in his business relations. All this he must have.

The same law that guarantees the right of franchise to the voting member, also guarantees to the applicant for membership a ballot free from malice, and free from all other bur-ful influences.

ELKS WOULD FORM MILITARY FORCE 450,000 STRONG

Number Sufficient to Strike Great Blow Against the Kaiser's Legions.

IS PATRIOTIC TO CORE

While Order is Founded on Charity and Brotherly Love It Teaches Members to Be Ready at Any Time to Smite the Evil of the Whole World.

"It is not inappropriate, in this day
and hour when the whole world is afire, to say that an army 450,000 strong would enlist to insure the honor and would enlist under the purple emblem of Elkdom to insure the honor and maintenance of the Stars and Stripes," said James R. Nicholson, of Lodge No. 61, Springfield, Mass., grand exalted ruler, at the annual banquet of Pittsburgh Lodge No. 11, and lodges of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

Mr. Nicholson in his address urged upon all Elks the duty of patriotic support of their country, humility and worship of their God and unswerving fidelity to the principles of their order. "Our order," he said, "is teaching a proper respect for the American flag. Do your part in the support of the national emblem and of your country and of the order of Elks. The sort of brotherly love that we are taught in Elkdom is not theoretical brotherly love, but practical, everyday brotherly love.

"It is the brotherly love that prompts Elks to greet a brother with a smile, that makes you thoughtful of the material comfort and his spiritual and worldly welfare. But it is more than this. It teaches love to all mankind, whether Elks or not, and to be a true Elk you can never pass by a single human being in trouble and not offer the helping hand of the good Samaritan."

SPEED IN PRODUCTION ESSENTIAL TO VICTORY

Industrial Efficiency Will Protect Lives of Our Boys in the Trenches.

Industrial efficiency and economy will play as important a part as military organization and genius in determining the outcome of the war, according to Frank A. Scott, chairman of the War Industries Board, which has charge of government buying and supervision over the general industrial activity incidental to the prosecution of the war. The preparatory stage of the war has passed for this country, says Mr. Scott, and the time has arrived when every resource, human and material, must be placed at the disposal of the government.

"If it can be said there has been a preliminary stage of our share in the war it is over now," says the government's industrial director. "Our troops are already in France, and we have begun the actual raising of a huge army here at home to be sent abroad when the time is ripe. We have passed the period of expectation.
Efficiency and economy in producing and distributing the government's requirements are as necessary to success as courage and intelligence in battle. The slacker at home is as contemptible a figure as the coward in the presence of the enemy. The luxuries of peace must give way to the necessities of war."—Industrial Conservation,
New York.

Privileges of the Poor.
Will you show me any other people outside of the fairy books who can put the most fearful calamity on like a cloak and do it at will, who can augment their families to seven or eight children overnight, and reduce them as readily to five or six on the following day if it just seem to them advisable? Where outside their ranks is there anyone capable of persuading
you that it is a privilege to sleep cold
so that some Darius you never saw or care to see shall be had his allegorical mule, go better warmed? Who else, being neither of your kith nor kin, has such power over you that,
with a mere bloodshot eye and shiver of the shoulders, they can turn your automobile, your furs, your warmth and all your pleasant pleasures into Dead sea apples of discomfort?—Laura zine.

STARS UNHERALDED

Baseball history has proved that the players who develop into the major league stars enter
the big show unheralded and unsung.

Wagner, Mathewson, Spenger, Cobb, Collins, Alexander, Johnson and many others made their entrance under modest and, in many instances, unknown circumstances.

Little or nothing was known
of Alexander as a minor league. So obscure was he that he was obtained in the draft.
He was obliged to prove his worth as a "rookie," and at one time there was some discussion
as to whether he would be among those retained during his first year with the Phillies.

ELKS DEMONSTRATE WHAT CAN BE DONE BY ORGANIZATION

No man is permitted within the portals of the Elks who does not believe in the existence of a Supreme Being. Abraham Lincoln — "the gentlest of our world—not a member of any church—declared that if one universal creed were adopted, he would join the church. And that creed, he said, ought to be this simple declaration: 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God, with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength. And thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.'"

Edison, wizard of the material and mysterious forces of earth and air, said recently: "The only religion needed in this world is the Golden Rule. If everyone practiced it, there would be no more trouble nor poverty, nor unhappiness. It is a perfectly practical suggestion, and would not be so hard for most of us to follow our neighbors. The Golden Rule is all that is needed."

"Do not claim that the Elk is the perfect man, for that all men who practice the virtues of Charity, Justice and Brotherly Love are members of this order. We all recognize the fact that in every community there are high-minded citizens, men who have a tear for pity and a mind open as the day for melting charity—who, through choice or prejudice, have never allied themselves with this or any other fraternal organization. These men are Elks in spirit—they're Elks outside the fold."

DOYLE DESERVES CREDIT

Advertising in Booster Edition Today Solicited by Him.

The extensive line of advertising in the Elks' Booster Edition of The Courier today testifies to the energy of James M. Doyle who personally solicited the greater part of it. Mr. Doyle worked untiringly and has the satisfaction of seeing his labors crowned with success.

Every inch of advertising bearing on the minstrel show the Elks are giving tomorrow and Wednesday evenings in the Solsson theater is a boost for Connellsville Lodge of the B. P. O. E. and also the Red Cross.

DEATH BENEFITS, 1917, $4,050

Charles L. Graft, Head of the Association for Over 20 Years, is Presenting With Gold Watch by His Former Associates; Other Events of Day.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTTSDALE, April 16, 1918.—A meeting of the Scottsdale Iron and Steel Workers' Beneficial association was held in the Odd Fellows' hall Saturday evening, at which time all of the 1917 business was completed. The annual report of the secretary and treasurer was read and was as follows:

Receipts—Balance 1916, $149; cash from members, $14,343.50; interest, $102.78; total, $14,496.28.
Disbursements—Death benefits, $4,050; sick benefits, $2,006; record book, $12.45; bond of treasurer, $5; flowers, $35.50; hall rent, $12; salaries, $200; dividends paid during the year, $324.70; regular dividends, $7,117.40; cash on hand, $24.53.

Reserve fund—Receipts: Balance, 1916, $2,809.73; interest, $153.88; making total $3,963.61, cash on hand.

Special fund—Receipts: Balance, 1916, $160; interest, $5.46; total cash on hand, $165.46.

The report was turned in by the auditors, H. C. Stevens, P. J. O'Connor and Leroy Baker.

The officers elected for 1918 are as follows: President, Ralph W. Stoner; vice president, George H. Lockard; secretary, Walter B. Null; treasurer, R. P. Perdue; directors, George B. Melinger, John H. Miller, George K. Reilly, John J. Flannery, J. T. Randle, R. H. Camlin and W. C. Kelley. Chairman Stoner appointed the following members to act on the membership committee: I. R. Rollinson, F. B. Tadrow, Sr., J. G. Black, R. F. Gaus, W. B. Rush, B. S. Baldwin and N. W. Kleinbrook. Just prior to the close of the meeting word was sent for Charles L. Graft, the former president of the association, that his presence was desired.

Mr. Graft concluded that some minor details in connection with the windup of the year's business demanded his attention, and in accordance with his life-long practice of being punctual, lost no time in reporting to the meeting. After the usual greeting by the chairman, Mr. Stoner, J. O'Connor, a life-long member of the association, approached Mr. Graft and in a speech befitting the occasion, presented to Mr. Graft in behalf of the association a gold watch and chain suitably inscribed. Among other things, Mr. O'Connor told how Mr. Graft had faithfully served the association as president for over 20 consecutive years, and had failed to appear at but one meeting during that long period, and that his absence at the meeting referred to was the result of either serious illness or death in the family, and that it was right and proper that Mr. Graft should have some token by which he could in the years to come remember those with whom he had been so closely associated.

After Mr. Graft had recovered from his surprise he thanked the association for its very kind remembrance and explained how very much he had enjoyed his work.

Charles L. Graft retired from the mill business at the close of 1917 in order that he might have more time to look after his outside interests, and by severing his connection with the local plants of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company he automatically ceased to be a member of the Beneficial association.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't Say Gray! Here's an Old-Time Recipe That Anybody Can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy, and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, you will get this famous, old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says he darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Enos desire to thank all those who so kindly assisted them in their late bereavement, the death of their son, Sherrick Pantall Enos. Especially do they wish to thank the boys at the cigar store.—Adv.

Bad Teeth Like Bad Shoes Spoil Fine Dress and Good Looks

PEOPLE NEGLIGENT
IN CARE OF MOUTH

Senreco Tooth Paste Powerful
To Save the Teeth and Prevent Diseases

"All dressed up with a hole in his shoe," was a bit of sarcasm a girl once at a young man friend whose eating habits were not exactly the most elegant. Right enough, too! Whether to man or woman a shabby pair of shoes would spoil the appearance of the most elegant garments ever worn.

What about the teeth? Dress in all the finery you please, if you open your mouth exposing a decayed set of teeth your attractiveness ends right there. That's a hole in the shoe for you.

Senreco Tooth Paste is for men and women. Girls and young men, you lose half the admiration which would be directed toward you if you have bad teeth. You can't be pleasing with a mouthful of decay.

Be healthy, either. The condition of the teeth have a telling influence on other organs of the body. Bad teeth affect the stomach, stomach, heart, and even the eyes. Medical science shows that bad teeth produce unhealthy conditions all over the body.

With Senreco Tooth Paste at your service—a scientifically prepared preventive of pyorrhea—there's no need of falling a prey to these ills. No need of having a mouthful of decayed teeth, lined regularly on a set of good teeth, the deadly germs have little chance to enter. If they should enter they can't enter long under its thorough cleansing properties. As a cleanser and preventive of disease of the teeth it is positively reliable. Advanced cases should be treated by your dentist.

Use Senreco Tooth Paste as a preventive. Ask your dentist if you should not pay all attention to your teeth. Of course we won't say our Tooth Paste will cure pyorrhea. If you already have it, your dentist is the doctor. Even if you are afflicted with this terrible disease Senreco Tooth Paste will help you to get rid of it with your dentist's assistance. But we don't want you to contract any ailment of the mouth and teeth, nor does your dentist.

A preventive is far better than to have to go through the trials of a cure. Buy your teeth by Senreco Tooth Paste and the probability is that you won't have to deal with foul and painful disease. By taking constant care of your teeth you may save stomach, intestinal, heart and eye troubles.

Take all precautions to keep the teeth clean and do it with Senreco Tooth Paste. The latest discovery of dental science. Sample of Senreco free if you wish it. Senreco Tooth Paste, Cincinnati, Ohio.

WHY GERMANS DO NOT REVOLT.

From the knowledge the people of the United States have gained of the economic conditions in Germany, and the tremendous burden the war is imposing upon its people, we are excited to amazement that the subjects of the Kaiser do not rise in revolt. When we realize the extent, power and influence of the forces that have been employed for generations to make the German point of view so different from our own, and to instill in his subjects unquestioned loyalty and obedience to the Kaiser, as a divine ruler, we will be better able to understand why revolution has not already become rife in the Fatherland.

That these things are being taught now even more assiduously than in the years preceding the war, and are having the effect of strengthening the people to resist revolutionary tendencies, is illustrated by an address recently given by one of the most eminent preachers of Berlin. The occasion was a mass meeting of "Loyal and Patriotic women," convened to protest against "unrest in labor circles" and "the revolutionary spirit" and to affirm their loyalty to the Kaiser. The imperialistic pastor savagely charged his hearers with having permitted revolutionary sentiments to fill the heads of immature young men and women, commanding them to obedience to the Kaiser after this fashion: "We must have order. Who is the preserver of order? He in whose name right and justice is decreed. In the land—the Kaiser, appointed by God, ruling by divine right. 'Order is God's will; it must be submitted to; disorder is the devil's work. There must be no tampering with the monarchial principle in this state. For us a monarchy is God's will. From the point of view of the Kaiser, the representative of God on earth. We rally round him. We will not leave him in the lurch. In spite of all political false doctrine and demagogic agitation we stand fast by the Kaiser. Raise your right hands and swear unalterable fidelity to our Kaiser."

Reports of the gathering state that thousands of women raised their right hands in compliance with the speaker's request, and that the enthusiasm was tremendous. Continuing his address, Pastor Beyer said:

It is as God's representative that the Kaiser for us is sacred. It is for him that we gladly perform our duty. His high office calls forth our veneration, love and obedience, our personal devotion and self-sacrifice; not the devotion of a slave to a tyrant, but of one who voluntarily submits to the divine order and appointment.

And should the ruler concerned be a man like Wilhelm if a man who for thirty years has impressed us with his strong Christian faith, his high and noble conception of duty and responsibility to God and his people, his deep sympathy with the sufferings and sorrows of the working classes, then our duty to such a ruler becomes a deep duty of our hearts, overmastering us, compelling us as a God-given impulse. And let us in conclusion remember that our Kaiser is not one of those irresponsible rulers for whom there should be war. How often has he declared this? How often has he not uttered his fervent prayer for peace? But the madness of our foes rejects peace. Let us, however, be of good cheer, our Kaiser will bring us peace. Over the hills, tops in the east the rosy dawn is in the heavens—the coming of our peace, our German peace.

When such perverted and untruthful statements and sentiments uttered by a man charged with the sacred duty of preaching and teaching the Word of God, are received by the mothers of Germany with "frenzied enthusiasm," can we wonder that the revolutionary spirit has not seized their misguided and deluded children?

THROUGH THE YEARS TO COME.

Doubtless you expect to live for a good many years to come. Most people do. Few of us are planning for anything but a long life.

Only those who may be headed for the trenches are seriously considering the possibility of an early death. They are thinking seriously at times, the Liberty Loan Committee reminds us.

In the trenches we know that death comes unannounced. He sends no warnings—gives no days of grace. He claims his own quickly. But the man in the trenches knows that when his call comes he has fulfilled his obligation—he has played out the greatest game of life.

But what of him who stays behind yet shirks?

Think this over. It may be a long time until you pay your mortal debt. There may be long hours of serious contemplation, when it is too late to make peace with your conscience; to satisfy your soul.

And no matter how long you may live you can never get away from yourself; never shake off memory; never salute regrets and remorse. It will be impossible to shake off the knowledge that you were a slacker. It will not be a pleasant thing to live with.

Don't take the chance.

Buy a bond.

What a splendid example of sound business has The Aaron Company, one of Conneltsville's leading enterprises, shown in taking a total of $50,000 in Liberty Bonds, and what a magnificent lesson in patriotism has it displayed by donating the interest derived from this investment during the war to the Red Cross and other war relief agencies.

The Company G. knockers, if wise, will lay their little hammers away so carefully as to forget where they placed them.

Plainly there are no hyphens among the Liberty Bond buyers of Conneltsville. The Germans, Italians, Slavish and others of foreign birth or parentage are subscribing just as plain American citizens, and patriots all.

It's a safe gamble that the "Elks" gambol will bring a good bunch of dollars to the Red Cross treasury.

Cheer up while you are loosening up on the Liberty Bond proposition.

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason.

LOYAL TALK.

Don't talk unless your talking is of the loyal brand; the mildest kind of knocking the people will not stand; at such a crucial season there is no sort of reason for even hinting treason, in freedom's spangled land. Some men, when times were peaceful, were prone to paw the air; they'd hand out a list of words, nor wear a hair; they'd roost in language thrilling, the seats in congress milling, and when the statesman flung the presidential chair, and now they still are handing their superheated stuff; it seems they can't abandon this thing of dashing craft; there'll be an evolution of wrath and retribution to stop their elation; then they'll be still enough. The other night a speller was roused from his repose, and told by vengeance dealer to rise and don his clothes; then he was swiftly taken to woodlawn glade forsworn, and asked, till he was ash, with whips and things like those. The patriots had risen, since he had talked too far; and feathers then were his, all nicely mixed with lard; they used him in this manner, then made the also ran salute the nation's banner, and kiss each stripe and star. Oh, may you never suffer the agony and pain endured by this fool duffer who was not safe or sane; if it is your ambition to think and talk sedition, you'll need a licensed physician to make you whole again.

Just Folks

Edgar A. Guest.

IT'S GOT TO BE APRIL.

"It's got to be April before it is May." That's something my father would frequently say. With the rain peltin' down an' the air full of gloom. He thought of the time when the people sang with the monarchial principle in this state. For us a monarchy is God's will. From the point of view of the Kaiser, the representative of God on earth. We rally round him. We will not leave him in the lurch. In spite of all political false doctrine and demagogic agitation we stand fast by the Kaiser. Raise your right hands and swear unalterable fidelity to our Kaiser.

The view from the top of the hill is sublime. But if you would see it you've first got to climb. The prizes of life never fall to the shirk.

They fit to the chap who is willing to work. The flag of our country was flung to the sky. An' kept there by men who were willing to die. They stood to disaster an' death's leaden pain. For the sake of the goal that they wished to attain. An' they didn't imagine they'd conquer the foe. By never once feelin' the force of a blow.

Stand fast to the purpose! Don't whimper an' whine! Because now an' then there's a bend in the line. Some day in the future when war's flags are furled. We'll find a new beauty is born to the world. We're pledged in the struggle to something worth while. An' before we attain it our troubles will pile. There are rough roads to travel, an' dangers ahead. An' sadly we'll read through the lists of the dead. But cling to your faith! We shall conquer some day. It's got to be April before it is May.

WALK ERECT AT EIGHTY

Because a man or woman is old does not mean that they must walk along bent over and supported with a cane. A man can be as vigorous and healthy at eighty as at twenty if he aids the organs of the body in performing their functions.

All diseases whether of a malignant or weak character tend to take away our vitality. You must counteract disease in its incipient stage if you would live a happy and useful long life.

HIS OWN STORY HOLDS A THRILL

Well-Known Pittsburg is Qualified to Speak for Multitude.

E. C. Byers, of 247 Pearl street, a well-known Pittsburg butcher, says: "I had constant spells of choking and coughing because of the secretions of mucus in my nose and throat, which I eventually swallowed as I slept and which finally affected my stomach. I would wake four or five times a night because of the choking sensation. Rarely did I ever get a night's rest."

"When I decided to take a remedy a friend said: 'You will not make a mistake if you try Tanlac.' I believed him. I have used two bottles and Tanlac has helped me so much that I just want to tell every one what it had done for me. My catarrh has practically gone entirely. I sleep much better and my sense of taste and smell that were badly affected have improved wonderfully. My appetite, too, has come back and I feel like I could eat eight or nine times a day. The pain over my eyes and in other parts of my head has disappeared. I get up in the mornings with a clear head, and not all stuffed up and dizzy as formerly."

Tanlac is now sold here by the Connelville Drug Co.
Tanlac can also be secured in Dunbar at D. C. Eason's Drug store.—Adv.

A. W. Nicholson from Dickerson Run, spent over Sunday with his family at Mill Run.

SMITHFIELD, April 15.—District Deputy G. M. Charles Bartholomew of Lodge No. 1188, Watersburg, and staff, Charles Fowler, C. S. Bryner, John Williams and Oliver Stone, of Uniontown, installed the officers of Gallatin Lodge No. 517, I. O. O. F., Saturday night. Mr. Bartholomew has his work well in hand, and with his corps of able assistants, performed the ceremony in a highly creditable manner. The following officers were installed: N. G., William P. Dils; V. G., W. M. McLaughlin; R. S., N. G. H. R. Breakiron; L. S., N. G. C. H. Ewing; R. S. to V. G., Y. A. Low; L. S. to V. G., S. Vanbremen; Right and Left scene supporters, Joseph Hoon and Harry Abraham; conductor, P. C. Buitt; warden, C. L. Jones; O. G., Clark Stuck; I. G., Charles Wise; chaplain, Lewis Hastings. After hearing a communication read from the grand lodge, urging the subordinate lodges to invest in Liberty Bonds, the noble grand appointed a committee to solicit members to buy the bonds; the lodge having already invested in the bonds and Savings Stamps to the limit of its finances. In discussing the importance and the urgent need of this loan to a successful prosecution of the war, District Deputy Bartholomew brought out that his lodge had subscribed for a thousand dollars of the bonds and a like amount for War Stamps and was going to invest another thousand.

CHAPTER XVII.

Rosa.

"Look!" Jacket clutched at O'Reilly and pointed a shaking finger. "More beggars! Christo! and those little children!" The boy tried to laugh, but his voice cracked nervously. "Are they children, or ghouls with legs under them?"

O'Reilly looked, then turned his eyes away. He and Jacket had reached the heart of Matanzas and were facing the public square, the Plaza de la Libertad it was called. Matanzas appeared poor and squalid, depressingly wretched; its streets were foul and the Plaza de la Libertad—grim mockery of a name—was crowded with a throng such as it had never held in O'Reilly's time, a throng of people who were, without exception, gaunt, listless, ragged. There was no afternoon parade of finery, no laughter, no noise; the benches were full, but their occupants were silent, too sick or too weak to move. Nor were there any romping children. There were, to be sure, vast numbers of undersized figures in the square, but one needed to look twice to realize that they were not pygmies or wizened little old folks. It was not strange that Jacket had compared them to ghouls with legs; for all were naked, and most of them had bodies swollen into the likeness of pods or calabashes. They looked peculiarly grotesque with their spidery legs and thin faces.

O'Reilly passed a dry hand across his eyes. "Just Heaven," he breathed. "She—she's one of these!"

The reconcentrados overran Matanzas in an unclean swarm; streets and plazas were congested with them, for no attempt was made to confine them to their quarters. Morning brought them streaming down from the suburban slopes where they lived, evening sent them winding back; their days were spent in an aimless search for food. They snatched at crumbs and combed the gutters for crusts. How they managed to exist, whence came the food that kept life in their miserable bodies, was a mystery, even to the citizens of the city; no organized effort had been made to cure for them and there was insufficient surplus food for half their number. Yet somehow they lived and lingered on.

At the time of O'Reilly's arrival the sight presented by these innocent victims of war was appalling; it roused in him a dull red rage at the power which had wrought this crime and at the men who permitted it to continue. Spain was a Christian nation, he reflected; she had set up more crosses than any other, and yet beneath them she had butchered more people than all the nations of the earth combined. This monstrous, coldly calculated effort to destroy the entire Cuban people seemed to him the blackest infamy of all, and he wondered if it would be allowed to succeed.

Fortunately for the two friends, General Betancourt's generosity served to relieve them from any immediate danger of starvation. After making a few purchases and eating with the utmost

"I can't stand that," he confessed, frugality, they began their search. Later they stretched themselves out to sleep on the stones beneath the portales of the railroad station.

They spent a horrid, harrowing night, for now the general distress was brought home to them; more poignant than ever. At dawn they learned that these people were actually dying of neglect. The faint light betrayed the presence of new corpses lying upon the station flagstones. From those still living, groans, sighs, sick mutterings rose, until O'Reilly finally dragged his youthful companion out of the place.

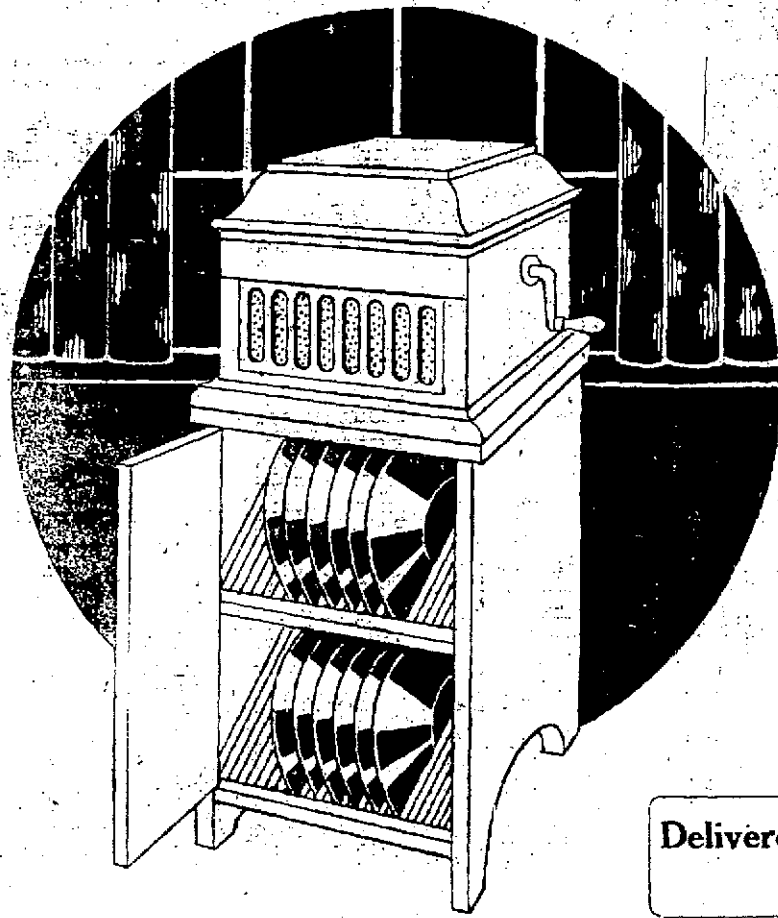

"I can't stand that," he confessed. "I can't sleep when people are starving to death alongside of me. This money burns my pocket, I—I—"

Jacket read his purpose and laid a gasping hand upon his arm.

"It will save our lives, too," he said simply.

"Bah! We are men. There are women and children yonder—"
